Letter from the Executive Director

Dear Supporter,

As I sit down to pen this note for the annual report for the year 2022-23, I find myself reflecting on the incredible journey we've undertaken together. It began with a simple yet powerful idea: to empower citizens, spark change, and strengthen our democracy through active engagement. When Deepa Gupta, our co-founder, shared this vision with me, I eagerly stepped into my role as a Trustee. Little did I know then that this would be the beginning of a remarkable transformation.

Last November marked the celebration of our ten-year anniversary, a milestone that allowed us to look back at the countless victories we've achieved together. These successes are a testament to our collaborative spirit and unwavering dedication.

Your support, alongside that of over 2 million citizens nationwide who have joined us in our campaigns, has paved the way for remarkable achievements. From the Kodaikanal Unilever campaign to influencing the implementation of BS 6 emission standards, from preserving urban and forest trees to promoting electric vehicle adoption, our impact has been profound.

The past financial year has been a period of reflection, learning, and strategic planning. We've deepened our commitment to addressing climate and air quality issues through initiatives like electric vehicles, solar rooftop adoption, and improved solid waste management. We've also revitalized our gender and sexuality team, reimagining our strategies for this crucial vertical.

Our most significant accomplishment this year was the passage of the Bengaluru Metropolitan Land Transit Authority (BMLTA) Act in Karnataka. This pivotal legislation establishes a central body to coordinate infrastructure development, reducing pollution and enhancing access and health outcomes for Bengaluru's citizens. The growing adoption of electric vehicles, both in the public and private sectors, has been another source of encouragement.

These achievements underscore the power of collective action, filling me with hope for what lies ahead. In the next decade, we aim to expand our outreach, engage even more citizens in our campaigns, and secure the resources needed to drive tangible change.

Yet, as we celebrate our successes, we must remain vigilant. Climate change, manifested in heatwaves, droughts, floods, and extreme weather events, continues to threaten our communities. Gender equity and inclusivity remain areas where further progress is essential. These interconnected challenges call upon us to unite and address them through collaborative effort. It is imperative that we expand and scale our movement to achieve more significant impact.

Looking forward, we are excited to extend our work into areas of equity, accessibility, and disability rights. We eagerly anticipate your continued engagement and support as we forge ahead into the years to come.

With heartfelt appreciation and enthusiasm for our shared journey,

Avijit Michael

About Jhatkaa.org

In the pursuit of an equitable, inclusive, and sustainable India, Jhatkaa.org stands as a beacon of grassroots citizen power. Our mission is to foster an empowered citizenry that drives change beyond individual actions, creating a meaningful impact on society. With unwavering commitment and innovative strategies, we empower individuals to collectively address issues that resonate with them, forging impactful transformations that transcend individual actions. Our journey through the year 2022-23 was marked by significant milestones across various domains, including climate change, gender equality, air pollution, human rights, and more.

Envisioning a Better Future

Our vision is clear: to build an equitable, inclusive, and sustainable India powered by the democratic might of an engaged citizenry. Armed with innovative technology and public mobilization, we foster a dynamic movement of progressive Indians who wield collective influence to drive change beyond solitary efforts.

Policy Shifts through Citizen Engagement

Our efforts have resulted in pivotal policy shifts achieved through democratic engagement. In collaboration with citizens, we have influenced the improvement of national automobile emission norms, facilitated the transition of state and city transport corporations toward electric bus fleets, and addressed pressing challenges like solid waste management and gender sensitization.

From Online to On-ground Impact

Our focus extends to fostering an active participative democracy, drawing citizens into the realm of governance to shape a better India for all. Operating predominantly online, we have reached across the nation, bridging rural and urban divides through campaigns, though our current stronghold remains metropolitan cities.

Our vision is clear:
to build an equitable, inclusive, and sustainable India powered by the democratic might of an engaged citizenry.

3. Key Achievements

The past year witnessed remarkable accomplishments across our campaigns and advocacy efforts. We successfully addressed air pollution, protected green spaces, championed gender equality, and facilitated policy shifts in areas like transportation and waste management. These achievements reflect our commitment to creating lasting change through collaborative action. Throughout the year, Jhatkaa.org has remained steadfast in our mission to drive transformative change across a spectrum of crucial issues. Our tireless advocacy, strategic campaigns, and collaborative endeavors have yielded significant accomplishments and made a lasting impact on communities and environments. Here, we highlight some of the major achievements that have defined our year:

Solid Waste Management Initiatives

Jhatkaa.org's commitment to creating sustainable urban environments is evident through our solid waste management initiatives. The launch of the Garbage Microsite stands out as a significant step towards promoting community-driven solutions. This innovative platform enabled individuals to form groups aimed at addressing waste-related challenges. Through this microsite, citizens could readily report instances of garbage burning and dumping, thereby mobilizing community squads and engaging local authorities. This initiative lays the foundation for collaborative, community-led responses to local waste management issues, promoting cleaner and healthier cities.

Air Quality Advocacy

In response to the urgent need for improved air quality, our efforts to combat air pollution arising from construction dust have been relentless. We've raised awareness, engaged stakeholders, and championed effective solutions. By partnering with like-minded organizations and rallying citizens, we've elevated the discourse around clean air and sustainable urban development. The commitment of the Brihanmumbai Municipal Corporation (BMC) to establish ward-level task forces is a testament to the tangible impact of our collective advocacy efforts, demonstrating our dedication to breathing cleaner air.

Preserving Green Spaces

Our dedication to safeguarding urban green spaces has been a focal point of our initiatives. Through campaigns to protect valuable grasslands and halt ecologically damaging construction, we've underscored the importance of responsible urban development. Our engagements have showcased the power of citizen-driven movements, fostering collaborations with decision-makers to ensure ecological balance is prioritized alongside progress..

"Your support, alongside that of over 2 million citizens nationwide who have joined us in our campaigns, has paved the way for remarkable achievements."

Empowering Change Agents

Equipping Citizens for Lasting Impact
Beyond individual campaigns, we've prioritized empowering citizens to become agents of change within their communities. The launch of the MOOC platform, specifically the SuperCitizen course, exemplifies our commitment to providing citizens with essential skills for effective advocacy and community mobilization. By cultivating a network of skilled change agents, we've sowed the seeds for sustained impact, amplifying our mission to create a more equitable and sustainable society.

As we reflect on this year's achievements, we're energized by the positive changes we've initiated and the collective power we've harnessed. Each campaign, each partnership, and each engaged citizen represents a step forward in our journey to create meaningful and lasting change. With renewed dedication and unwavering resolve, we look ahead to the opportunities and challenges that the coming year will bring, confident in our ability to drive transformative change for a better future.

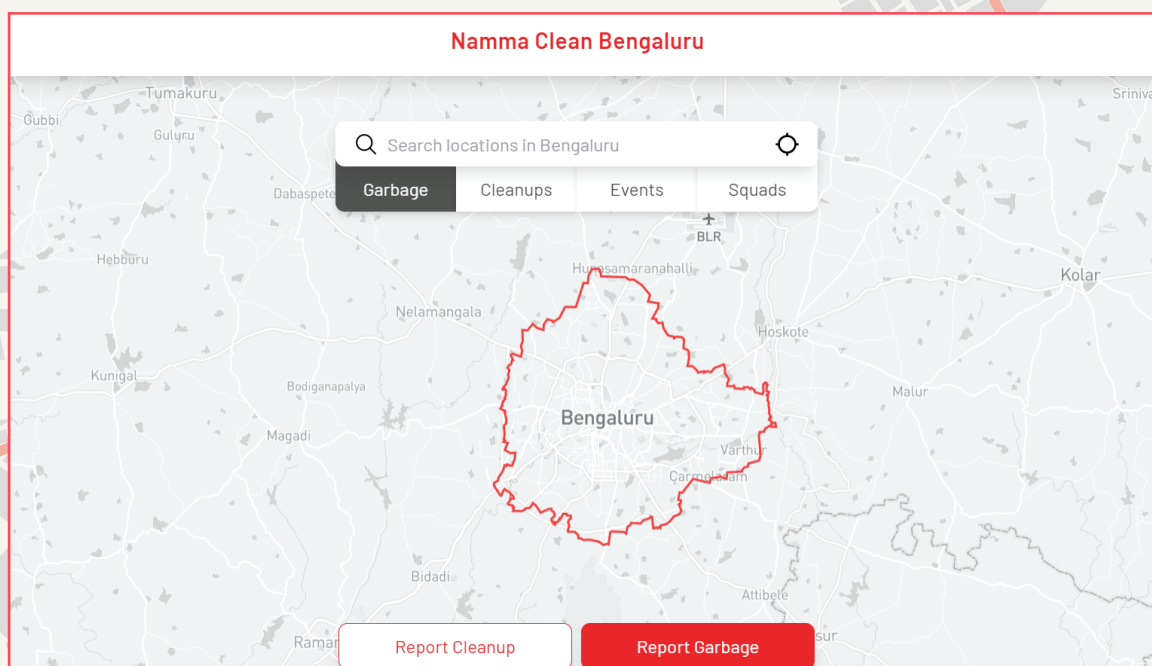

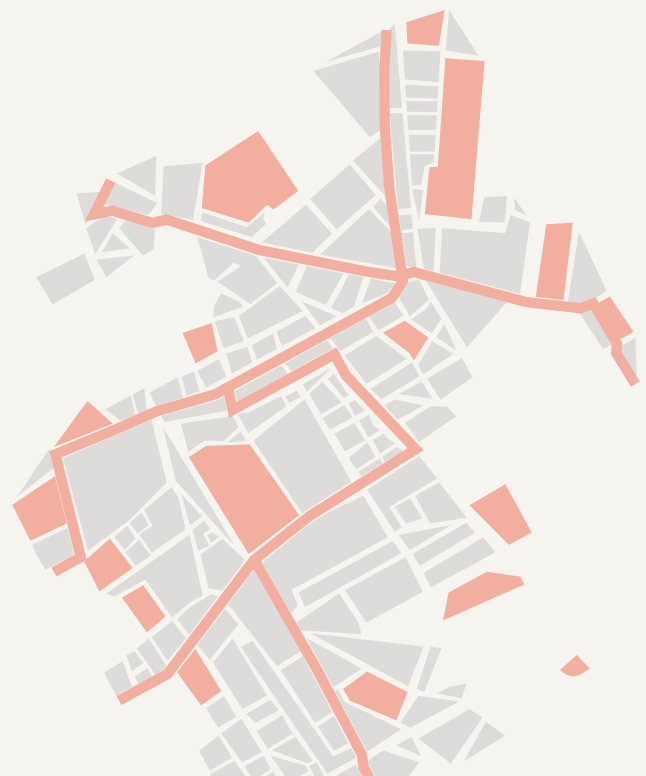

4. Campaign Highlights

Our campaigns have been instrumental in driving change across a range of issues. From advocating for justice in wrestling to promoting a cleaner Bengaluru and initiating transformative initiatives with BMTC, our campaigns have demonstrated the potential of organized efforts to drive change. By rallying citizens and igniting conversations, we've successfully created tangible impacts within communities, creating a ripple effect that resonates far beyond campaign durations.

Launch of the Garbage Microsite:

In a bid to address the persistent issue of solid waste management, we introduced the Garbage Microsite tool—a campaign that harnessed the collective power of citizens. This innovative platform enabled individuals to form groups focused on tackling waste challenges. Through the microsite, citizens could readily report incidents of garbage burning and dumping. This information served as a catalyst, mobilizing squads and involving the Bruhat Bengaluru Mahanagara Palike (BBMP) in resolution efforts. By empowering citizens with the means to engage proactively, we laid the foundation for community-led solutions to local waste issues.

Electrifying Bengaluru's Public Transport (BMTC campaign)

Jhatkaa.org initiated campaigns to replace old, polluting BS III and BS IV diesel buses in Bengaluru with modern EVs. BMTC (Bangalore Metropolitan Transport Corporation) phased out aging buses and introduced 1300 new EV buses with Tata and Switch Mobility. Our campaigns addressed several objectives, including emission checks, efficient Nirbhaya fund use, and increased funding.

BMTC officials cooperated actively, making substantial progress in reducing pollution, launching a citizen-centric app, and improving their complaint mechanism. This campaign showcases our success in promoting sustainable urban mobility and cleaner air.

BMLTA Bill Breakthrough:

In a significant stride toward improving urban mobility, our successful advocacy led to the tabling of the Bangalore Metropolitan Land Transport Authority (BMLTA) Bill in the Karnataka state Legislative Assembly. This achievement is a testament to our persistent efforts since 2021, which garnered recognition in media coverage and even earned a dedicated segment on Radio Mirchi. This victory represents a significant step towards more efficient, integrated, and comprehensive mobility in Bengaluru. By pushing for coordinated transport and mobility initiatives, we aspire to create a common vision for a more efficiently managed city.

Kodaikanal Lake Campaign

In the pursuit of preserving natural resources, our campaign to save the Kodai Lake encapsulated our determination to ensure scientific and sustainable development. Challenging a decision that allotted funds for cosmetic enhancement rather than ecological rejuvenation, we took the matter to court. Backed by the support of concerned citizens, we sent over 4,300 emails to the Kodaikanal municipality, urging a reevaluation of their approach. Our ongoing efforts reflect our commitment to safeguarding the beauty and ecological balance of the lake.

Preserving Hebbal Nagawara's Ecosystem

Our unwavering commitment to environmental preservation manifested in our resolute stand against the proposed felling of over 6,000 trees for the Hebbal-Nagawara valley project. This campaign embodied the spirit of collaboration and activism as we engaged with the forest and irrigation departments. The result was a significant victory—halting the development that could have irreversibly harmed the region's ecosystem. Alongside this achievement, we ignited widespread conversations through media coverage and a dedicated webinar featuring expert insights. Our triumph in protecting the Hebbal Nagawara lake area underscored the potential of united action in safeguarding our natural treasures.

Resurrecting Hosakerehalli Lake

With a vision to rejuvenate the Hosakerehalli Lake, we embarked on a campaign that stood firm against unauthorized construction on its premises. A united citizen movement, powered by Jhatkaa.org, spurred the Bruhat Bengaluru Mahanagara Palike (BBMP) officials to visit the site. This on-ground activism and the subsequent halting of the destructive construction validated the efficacy of community-led interventions in environmental conservation. Beyond this victory, the campaign set a precedent for collective action in the realm of environmental protection, sending a resounding message of the power of communities coming together for a shared cause.

Our most significant accomplishment this year was the passage of the Bengaluru Metropolitan Land Transit Authority (BMLTA) Act in Karnataka.

Breathing Fresh Air into Mumbai

In response to the pressing issue of air pollution fueled by construction and demolition dust in Mumbai, our partnership with Waatawaran catalyzed a campaign that resonated deeply with citizens. Our joint efforts rallied 50,000 concerned individuals, prompting a regional and national dialogue on air quality.

The culmination of our campaign was marked by a significant milestone—the commitment of the Brihanmumbai Municipal Corporation (BMC) to establish ward-level task forces. This commitment represented a crucial stride toward cleaner air in the city, reiterating the tangible impact of collective advocacy.

Saving the Last Remaining Grassland of Bengaluru

In an impressive show of unity and purpose, we mobilized a formidable force of over 75,000 citizens to preserve the Hesaraghatta grasslands from potential developmental threats. Our advocacy efforts took a definitive form as we presented over 66,000 petition signatures to the Forest Department. This concerted action catalyzed the initiation of a public consultation process, ultimately leading to a commitment from the Karnataka State Wildlife Board to consider public input in their decisions regarding the grasslands. The campaign exemplified the potential of citizen engagement in shaping the conservation discourse.

Wrestlers' Rights Campaign

Standing in solidarity with top Indian wrestlers who bravely protested against sexual harassment, our campaign for "Justice For Wrestlers" echoed their demands for reform within the wrestling federation. Through this initiative, we amplified the voices of over 60,000 citizens who joined hands to support these athletes. By uniting our collective power, we emphasized the imperative of justice and change within sporting institutions.

Stopping the Sankey Tank Road Flyover Construction

In response to a proposal to build a flyover at Bashyam Junction, threatening over 50 heritage trees along the route, Jhatkaa.org, in collaboration with Citizens For Sankey, took action. This proposed development posed threats of traffic bottlenecks, diminished walkability, and worsening congestion in Bengaluru, all without public consultation or transparency regarding project details. The campaign garnered engagement from over 25,000 individuals who demanded the preservation of heritage trees and the cessation of flyover construction. This collective effort achieved a significant milestone – the official stay of the flyover project, effectively safeguarding the city's precious urban greenery.

Future City Festival Success

In June 2022, the Bengaluru edition of Future City, hosted at Bangalore Creative Circus, became a dynamic platform uniting citizens at the crossroads of technology, art, sustainability, innovation, and proactive measures. This immersive experience featured a vibrant array of stalls, events, workshops, compelling talks, enlightening panels, captivating pop-ups, enthralling performances, and thought-provoking art installations. This event provided a glimpse into a future where sustainability thrives.

Over 2000 individuals actively participated, engaging in dialogues about climate change and their role in shaping more habitable cities.

Launch of the MOOC Platform

In a pivotal move towards nurturing engaged and capable citizens, we launched our Massive Open Online Course (MOOC) platform. Our SuperCitizen course, introduced in July, equips concerned individuals with the essential skills to spearhead campaigns and mobilize communities. By cultivating a network of adept change agents, this initiative fosters sustainable impact. With 19 active participants currently enrolled in two ongoing batches, we're empowering citizens to drive lasting change through informed and strategic advocacy efforts.

These campaigns and engagements reflect our dedication to creating transformative change across air pollution, solid waste management, and gender issues. By mobilizing citizens and fostering community participation, we have made significant strides toward a more sustainable and equitable future. Through our collective efforts, we continue to drive change that matters. For further details, campaign photos, and in-depth reports, refer to our appendices.

5. Community Engagements

At Jhatkaa.org, we firmly believe that community engagement is not only vital but also the very bedrock of our work. We recognize that active participation and collaboration with our communities are instrumental in driving meaningful change. Throughout the year, we embarked on a series of community engagement initiatives that brought people together, ignited awareness and collective action across various domains.

Chandra Layout Clean Bengaluru:

Our endeavor to promote a cleaner Bengaluru led us to organize an event on Republic Day that gathered over 50 citizens. This event served as a platform to raise awareness about effective solid waste management practices. During the event, we actively engaged with local shopkeepers, encouraging them to utilize reporting tools for waste management. This not only fostered a sense of community involvement but also empowered individuals to take tangible steps towards a cleaner environment.

Hosakerehalli Lake Cleanup:

Driven by the belief that communities play a pivotal role in environmental conservation, we initiated a community-led cleanup effort around Hosakerehalli Lake. Citizens took the lead in organizing and participating in the cleanup activities. This grassroots movement proved to be instrumental in engaging the Bruhat Bengaluru Mahanagara Palike (BBMP) to address the issue of waste dumping. The impact was substantial, as the BBMP began imposing fines on waste dumpers and reevaluated their approach to lake development.

Sustainable Menstruation Drive

Addressing critical issues extends beyond the physical environment; it encompasses community well-being too. In line with this, we undertook a sustainable menstruation drive, distributing over 244 menstrual cups across police stations.

This initiative aimed to support menstruators from the police sector and promote sustainable menstrual practices. By creating awareness about these alternatives, we positively impacted communities, particularly in remote areas.

Cycle Infrastructure in Delhi

Our commitment to community engagement also extended to advocating for better cycling infrastructure in Delhi and Gurugram. We collected data from 500 volunteers to support surveys and discussions focused on enhancing cycling experiences and infrastructure. This data-driven approach guided our efforts to participate in cycling activities and advocate for improvements. By amplifying the community's voice, we strive to shape more bike-friendly cities. Through these initiatives, we underscore our dedication to working hand in hand with communities, reinforcing the notion that collective action leads to enduring change.

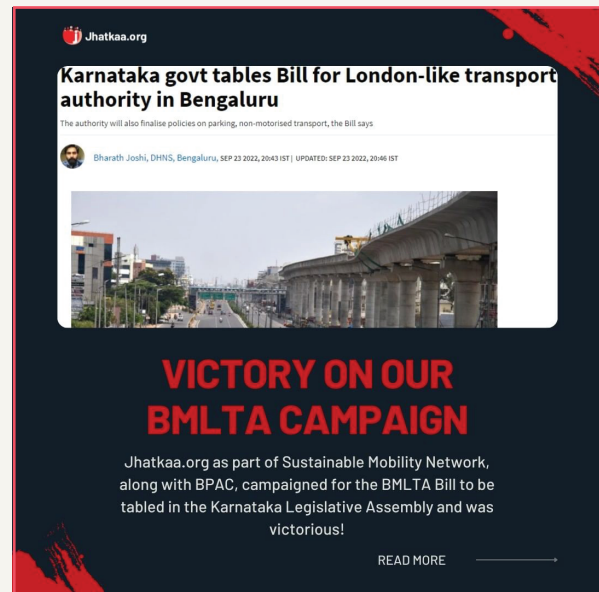

6. Partnerships and Collaborations

We're grateful to our partners for their pivotal role in our mission to enhance urban mobility and environmental sustainability.

Sustainable Mobility Network (SMN) and Bangalore Political Action Committee (B.PAC)

In collaboration with the Sustainable Mobility Network (SMN) and Bangalore Political Action Committee (B.PAC), we achieved a significant milestone—the passage of the Bangalore Metropolitan Land Transport Authority (BMLTA) Bill in the Karnataka State Legislative Assembly. This achievement marks a crucial step toward more efficient, integrated, and comprehensive mobility solutions for Bengaluru.

Citizens for Sankey

Our collaboration with Citizens For Sankey addressed a pressing issue — the proposed construction of a flyover at Bashyam Junction. This project threatened over 50 heritage trees and posed risks of traffic congestion, reduced walkability, and increased congestion in Bengaluru. The campaign united over 25,000 individuals who demanded the preservation of our city's heritage trees and an end to the flyover project. We secured a significant milestone — an official stay on the flyover project, safeguarding Bengaluru's urban greenery and improving the quality of life for our residents.

7. Financial Overview

We provide a transparent overview of our financial performance, detailing income, expenses, and funding sources. This transparency is vital as we strive to effectively utilize resources for our mission's fulfillment.

8. Volunteer Testimonials

Personal anecdotes and testimonials from beneficiaries, supporters, and partners shed light on the tangible transformations we have achieved, highlighting the ripple effect of our work.

Volunteer Testimonials: Our volunteers' experiences echoed our impact, reflecting the transformative change they witnessed through our inclusive marathons, clean-up drives, awareness sessions, and more.

"Communities like Jhatkaa.org undoubtedly make a difference in society, especially considering the numerous opportunities unfolding across the nation. In a time when active platforms encouraging citizens towards sustainable leadership are essential, my experience with Jhatkaa.org has always been positive. What sets Jhatkaa.org apart is its ability to capture public attention and sensitize people towards issues like air pollution and gender & sexuality in our city. This has led to the emergence of more eco-warriors within the platform, and in the process, various such groups will evolve. Platforms like Jhatkaa.org are expanding the horizons as more citizens get involved, and everyone works towards a common cause."

- Nagaraj or Raj, Co-founder, The Indian Ploggers Army (also known as Plogman)

Participating in the GM Hospitals marathon showcased the inclusive nature of our events. The collaboration of social enterprises and NGOs emphasized the importance of healthy living. Hosting clean-bengaluru awareness sessions with Chandra Layout furthered our impact.

- Dharshana,
Volunteer

Jhatkaa.org offers a fantastic platform to engage in various social causes and fosters collaboration among decision-makers for a more equitable India. My experience has been excellent, with valuable guidance from campaign leads. In the future, Jhatkaa.org holds the potential to empower people to address unethical activities and support meaningful causes like gender equality and waste management. Organizations like Jhatkaa.org are crucial for organized community action.

Volunteer

9. Partner Testimonials

Our valued partners share their experiences and insights on our collaborative journey.

Our partnership with Jhatkaa has helped us understand the potential of civic participation in India. Through their work, we are pleased to learn about the art of awareness building, along with the social and technical nuances of running campaigns.

– Natasha Joshi,
Rohini Nilekani Philanthropies

We initially met at a blood donation camp and have since engaged in numerous collaborative events. What I appreciate about Jhatkaa is their unwavering commitment to working on event initiatives and diligently following up. They have displayed excellence in addressing critical issues such as gender equality, air pollution, and gender empowerment. Additionally, their monthly 'Super Citizens' recognition program, acknowledging residents who contribute positively to society, is commendable. I look forward to further fruitful collaborations with Jhatkaa and extend my best wishes.

– Meghana Murthy,
Co-founder, Smitam.org

Jhatkaa.org's work reflects a lot of digital campaigning expertise. The content created is easily accessible, understandable, and shareable. More importantly, it focuses on issues that are absolutely vital from environmental and social justice perspectives. Jhatkaa is also a crucial partner within the ecosystem of organizations that work on these issues as their insights and inputs are invaluable in formulating campaign strategy. I hope Jhatkaa can continue to scale up their work to more geographies and issue areas and champion marginalized voices.

– Bhaskar, Senior Program Manager,
Transport & Mobility, Asar

Jhatkaa is a reflection on the changing landscape of citizen activism in this day and age. Having collaborated with them for several years on various campaigns for sustainable public transport, I feel they are really good at mobilising public opinion using technology and formally submitting petitions to concerned authorities for action. Jhatkaa work during #SteelFlyoverBeda and #BMLTAbeku made a difference in our city.

– Srinivas Alavilli,
Citizen Activist, Bengaluru

We've been working with Jhatkaa for our two programmes called Voice Labs in colleges and our work on deterrence of sexual harassment with frontline functionaries. The feisty nature of Jhatkaa adds a lot of value to the issues they work on and partnering with them has brought us closer to different opportunities. The dynamism of team Jhatkaa makes working together very exciting and purposeful.

– Abirami, Programme Coordinator and facilitator, Durga India

10. Future Plans and Goals

The evolution (and revolution!) of Jhatkaa.org has been incredible to witness. From being a 4-person campaigns team to now a 15-person team, our growth journey, not just in size, has been transformational in many ways. We have forged new connections, created resilient communities, built leadership and achieved campaign victories. Our team's superpower is our agility and our ability to embrace failure and learn from it. I hope we continue to approach our work with curiosity, constantly ideating, testing, unlearning, and relearning as we reinvent ourselves on this journey together.

I strongly believe in people power and in the potential for collective impact. Some of our most successful campaigns have resulted from collaboration with committed allies who share our values and our vision for India. As we embark on a new decade with Jhatkaa.org, we plan to explore new horizons, with a fresh perspective and boundless hope.

I eagerly look forward to being part of a strong community of organisations and individuals who are values-driven and share a vision of building an equitable, inclusive and sustainable future for our country.

- Divya Narayanan, Campaigns Director
