PRESS RELEASE

PriceHubble appoints Yann Landrin-Schweitzer new Chief Data Officer

(Zurich, 16 February 2022) On 1 February 2022, Yann Landrin-Schweitzer joined the PriceHubble Executive Management Team as Chief Data Officer. In this newly created role, he will be responsible for the further development and implementation of the data strategy of PriceHubble.

PriceHubble, the world's leading AI analysis and data company for the real estate industry, has expanded its Executive Management Team. On 1 February 2022, Yann Landrin-Schweitzer joined the Management Team as new Chief Data Officer and took on responsibility for the governance and stewardship of PriceHubbles data assets.

Yann Landrin-Schweitzer has 20 years of experience in Data and Artificial Intelligence. His most recent experience is in the data privacy space, supporting organisations to create defensible privacy architecture. Prior to that, he was the Head of Data at DeliveryHero, focusing on helping the group's regional brands in EMEA and Asia increase the sophistication of their product through AI and data-powered features. Yann Landrin-Schweitzer has also been in data and AI roles at Netflix, Yahoo and Autodesk.

«I am excited to lead the young and ambitious data practice at PriceHubble, and help the organisation on its journey to become the world leaders in real estate intelligence. PriceHubble leverages unique datasets in unprecedented ways, and I am eager to expand the positive impact these have on our clients and partners, and their customers», comments Yann Landrin-Schweitzer.

Julien Schillewaert, CEO of PriceHubble, adds: «As we scale, it is crucial that we optimise our data assets and infrastructure to support the rapidly evolving needs of tomorrow. To oversee and drive that evolution it is important to have the right executive leadership in place, and with Yann we have found someone to ensure that Pricehubble keeps bringing world-class talents.»
