Read Newspaper Effectively - Introduction

Newspaper reading mainly helps a lot in dealing with two sections for the exams which are General Awareness and English Language. It helps you in knowing the current affairs in detail along with the fact that it helps you in grasping and strengthening your English language skills. In this sense, reading the newspaper becomes important for all competitive exam aspirants. While you appreciate the importance of newspaper reading, I'm sure most of you have wondered, How to Read Newspaper Effectively? Which newspaper to read? How much time to devote to newspaper reading? And so on.

The Hindu is considered as the best one among all available newspaper. The Hindu Business and Economic Times Newspapers are also very important as they cover the Banking, Insurance, Finance and Economy Sector news primarily which is the main part of the Banking Examination. Apart from it, you can follow Indian Express and Times of India newspapers for your exam preparation.

For Best Possible Results, Newspaper Must Have The Following Points:

- Comprehensiveness: Most of the articles published in the paper should be relevant from the point of view of exams. This will save time while preparing for the General Awareness.
- Standard English: The articles of the newspaper must follow Standard English. This will help a lot in working upon the English section.
- Good Coverage: The newspaper should have good coverage of the relevant topics.
- News should make sense: While reading a newspaper, you need to keep in mind that not every news article is important from the point of view of an examination. You need to choose the relevant ones. Well, if you are a Hindu reader, you will find most of the articles are very much necessary for aspirants.
- Very nice coverage of any topic: The Hindu gives you a complete coverage of any topic that is of importance for your exam.
- Language should be very good: It serves the purpose of learning vocabulary as well. You may not have the time to read something in English separately before the exam; this will help you in revising and enriching your vocabulary.
- Saves the time to selected topics: The newspaper is very comprehensive for bank exams and you are spared the trouble of selecting the important and relevant topics from the not so relevant and important ones.

How to Read Newspaper Effectively for SSC & Banking Exams

- Read Actively: Just do not go through the lines, try to develop an approach regarding the article.

- Prepare Handy notes of Current Affairs, Vocabulary and Important Facts: Make a separate notebook for English and note down the important and tough vocabulary, idioms and phrases. Similarly, maintain another notebook for General Awareness. Write down the points of current affairs, such as sports news in one part of the notebook and finance related news in another part of the notebook. It will help a lot while revising the things.
