Determining
LOSS PREVENTION OR LOSS CONTROL

Any incident of risk requires an evaluation prior to responding. In order to determine next steps, you need to determine whether the risk is loss prevention or loss control.

☐ Is the proposed response proactive and in compliance with safety measures?

Is the proposed response reactive and in response to mitigate a loss? ☐

☐ Does the response reduce the amount of loss our company experiences?

Is this response considered damage control? ☐

☐ Are these strategies part of a security and/or safety management plan?

Did the event result in emotional trauma or personal injury? ☐

Results tallied on the left indicate loss prevention.
Results tallied on the right indicate loss control.
