Carpet Cleaning Launceston

If you were to be honest, how long has it been since your carpet had a real good clean? When looking at your carpet, can you actually remember what its original colour was?

Maybe it had once been a lovely plush white, but the repeated task of bringing in outside dirt, and feet treading the dirt into the carpet, has turned it into a brownish blah.

You tell your kids to take off their shoes, but do they ever listen? You tell your pets to stay off the carpet, but they always ignore you, and over time your carpet has been ignored.

You've tried vacuuming, and maybe it looks like it's worked to a small degree for a little while, but when you run your hands through the carpet fibre's you can feel the grit and dirt. Walking on your carpet barefoot still makes you want to go scrub your feet with soap.

On a person's Things I Want To Do On A Lazy Weekend List, cleaning one's carpets is very rarely seen. It's not an easy job. It takes time and effort, and you never really know if you are doing it right.

You just feel like it's a waste of time.

Can't you imagine it already? Walking on your carpet, barefoot, playing with and scrunching the thread in your toes at the end of a long hard day's work?

It doesn't have to be just imagination.

Our services aren't limited to just homes ... or even just carpet. Imagine that office carpet, trampled into dirty, gritty submission by a constant throng of shoes being transformed into a bright, welcoming entranceway for your staff and clients.

At Pro Carpet Cleaning Launceston, our friendly staff are awaiting your call.

Do I Really Need To Clean My Carpets?

You know better than anyone else the wear and tear your carpet comes under on a day by day basis. You have mum and dad coming home from work at the end of the day bringing in the dirt and dust from outside; young children with a drink in one hand, cake in the other, shoes untied, mind elsewhere, adding up to a tripping hazard waiting to happen; you have pets whose two favourite locations in the entire world are the mud patch at the back of your garden and the living room floor, right in front of the TV, who somehow manage to shed half their body weight in hair in a single sitting.

Oh, and pee.

They pee, too.

Sometimes a lot.

You have all of that in your life, so you know your carpets are not in good shape. They had once looked bold and welcoming, adding a sense of style to your house that matched your personality and flair.

But now, they are just dull and gritty, an overall brown blah that is an embarrassment when you have visitors over ... if you have visitors over.

You might think vacuuming your carpets is enough. And it is a start, that is for sure, but it's not enough. If you think of your carpet like a rainforest, vacuuming is good at getting rid of the dust and dirt and bacteria from the tops of the 'trees', but not so good at really getting down to the ground level where all the worst of the stuff lives; that real trodden down dirt and dust and debris lives, along with dust mites and bedbugs and all the other stuff that makes your skin crawl when thinking about them.

Only when you really do a thorough carpet clean can you get clean right down to the thick of the mess.

Can Cleaning My Carpets Improve My Health?

It can. Think of it; you're walking on carpet which is dirty and dusty and gritting. With your every step you are disturbing that dust and dirt and bacteria and all of the things that make your skin crawl into the air.

Now think of yourself breathing that in. Maybe it doesn't affect you that much, but maybe it affects your kids, who have breathing problems like asthma, or it affects your elderly visitors, who have lower immunity and breathing problems.

A thorough carpet clean can get rid of the dirt, dust and bacteria from your carpets, so they don't become airborne when you walk, and get breathed in by the people who are most at risk of asthma, allergies and other breathing related issues. The longer you delay in cleaning your carpets, the worse these issues will become.

How Regularly Should I Clean My Carpets?

It all really depends, but for most people the simple answer would be 'More often than you currently do.'

But let's figure out some rough guidelines. For those of us who enjoy the single life, whose only pet is Rocky their pet rock, and who is very diligent at taking their shoes off before walking on their carpet, we would only recommend a carpet clean once per year.

Add some kids, or a pet, or become a smoker, and that recommendation might become once every six to nine months.

Add all those factors – kids, pets, being a smoker – and you are looking at cleaning your carpets every three months, especially for those carpets that are in high-foot-traffic zones like the front entranceway.

OUR SERVICES

Carpet Cleaning

There are many different types of carpet out there. Some are built tough, some are a little more fragile.

As such, we have to take that into consideration when performing a carpet clean. Tough carpets can handle tougher cleans, but with the more delicate carpets, we may have to take a more caring approach to ensure the carpet is returned to its original beauty.

But here's where it gets even a little more difficult, and why a one-size-fits-all approach to carpet cleaning is not feasible.

Even with the same carpet, a different approach to carpet cleaning is required on those areas that are more worn-down by being in a high-traffic areas when compared to those areas that are still, more or less, in pristine condition.

It is because of these reasons, that you need a professional carpet cleaning service like Pro Carpet Cleaning Launceston. We are your carpet cleaning experts.

Upholstery Cleaning

How many of us, when we sit down on our upholstered couch watching the TV, really think about how clean our furniture and upholstery is? If we drop crumbs or spill our drink, we might bring out the vacuum cleaning or a dry cloth to clean our messes, and we might think about it if the upholstery is particularly gritty to the touch, but on the whole, we don't think about it too much.

But if you knew what was on your upholstered furniture that you couldn't feel, or what still remained after your performed your emergency vacuum, you would probably quarantine your sofa and lock it in the garage. Dust mites, layers of dead skin, little tiny creatures that live off your dead skin, plus of course, dirt and bacteria.

With our upholstery cleaning service, you don't have to worry about that. We will clean your upholstery and furniture until they look and smell brand new.

Commercial and Corporate Cleaning

A lot of our words have been related to domestic cleaning, but that is not all we do. We are also available for any and all commercial and corporate cleaning jobs. And not just carpets, either, but all of our services that we make available to domestic customers, are also available for commercial and corporate cleaning customers.

So, whether you work in an office building, or a cinema, or a hotel, or any of dozens other types of businesses, we can bring your carpets back to life. The look of your carpets are sometimes the first thing a customer sees. Make sure you are putting your best foot forward by calling our friendly staff and getting a free quote.

Tile and Grout Cleaning

You mightn't think Tile and Grout has much to do with Carpets, so why should a carpet cleaner be cleaning tile and grout. But the thing is, we consider carpet cleaning a health service, and many of the same health benefits that relate to why you should get your carpets cleaned, also relate to why you should ensure your tiles and grout are clean.

Tiles and grout harbour germs and bacteria, and because they are usually fairly often used in bathrooms and kitchens, places where there is water build up and where food is prepared, having germs, bacteria, mould and mildew in such places are a sure way of our more-at-risk family members of becoming sick.

Call our team of cleaning experts, and we will scrub and clean your tiles and grout until they are, once again, spotless.

Rug Cleaning

Most people don't carpet their entire floors. Some might consider a hard surface instead. But often we introduce decorative rugs onto those hard surfaces to introduce some colour and character to what could be a lifeless surface. Usually these rugs are placed in high-traffic areas and require cleaning like any carpet does.

And like carpet, rugs are also made in a wide variety of styles and materials, not all conducive to the same type of cleaning service. Some rug materials don't mind a more vigorous cleaning approach, while many rug materials require a gentle touch to ensure the material can be returned to their original colour and texture.

Of course, we can clean all types of rugs, like your Oriental rugs, Persian rugs, Shag rugs and Handmade rugs, not to mention many other types, as well.

Stains and Odour Removal

Not all of us have the hand-eye co-ordination of a world professional juggler, so occasionally, mistakes will happen. We drop a glass of wine here, some chocolate cake there, perhaps accidentally sit on a melting piece of chocolate on our sofa. We then do the obvious thing and try and clean it out, only this somehow seems to just spread the stain around.

Or we have young children, and the science of potty training is not yet something they have mastered. Or we have a pet dog and we unfortunately forgot to open the door to the outside and now we have little Rover sitting with his head down, looking guilty, as his little 'accident' sits on our carpet.

Don't fret. Our specialised chemical carpet treatment will clean up all of life's mistakes (at least, those that relate to stains and odours on our carpets), and will leave your carpets looking fresh and smelling like new.

Mattress Cleaning

We spend a lot of our lives asleep on a mattress, and because of this, our mattress becomes a microscopic microcosm of bacteria, flaked off skin cells and dust mites and their excrement. That is what you are sleeping on every night.

It's enough to make you never to want to sleep again. Well, we are here to help you. If you'd prefer to not think about what uninvited guests are sharing your bed, call us. Our specially trained contractors are looking forward to cleaning your mattress for you
