Step 1: Understand the Problem

Manually checking schema markup across many pages is time-consuming and prone to errors. Existing tools are often paid or limited to single-page checks.

Step 2: Access the Tool

The tool is a Python-based GUI application designed to automate schema auditing.

Step 3: Input Your URLs

You can input a single URL to check one page, or provide an entire sitemap to scan and validate all pages.

- The tool also accepts a custom list of URLs for targeted checks.

Step 4: Extract Structured Data

The tool fetches HTML and parses it to find both JSON-LD scripts and inline microdata.

Step 5: Validate Schema

The tool uses custom validation rules to identify critical schema issues that can impact SEO, such as missing required fields or malformed types.

- These rules are designed to catch common mistakes that hurt SEO.

Step 6: Perform Live Testing

Flagged pages can be sent directly to Google Rich Results for a live, side-by-side test, complementing the local validation.

Step 7: Export Results

Results can be exported, allowing you to track fixes over time or share reports with clients and teammates.
