VOLUME 27

JANUARY 2023

Wishes for 2023

My wish for 2023 is that the connections in our community continue to strengthen, with respect for all forms of life, and that we will be here for each other, come what may. My second wish is to extend this to the entire world! –Shirley DicKard

My wish for the New Year is for the world to just chill out a bit and be friendlier. –Patrick Brose

I hope for acceptance of all regardless of gender, partner preference, color, ethnicity. I find it outrageous that the above is even controversial. –John Deaderick

My wish for 2023 is for love to surpass fear as the dominant frequency on the planet. –Jimbo Garrison

For myself: a deepening and ever more constant sense of gratitude. For my community: an ever deepening acknowledgement of the ties that bind us together, an ever expanding ability to listen, hear, and appreciate each other. For the world: a deeper connection to this earth. –Yakshi Vadeboncoeur

I hope that Foothill folks will continue to actively prepare for fire... and my prayer is that we don't have any major fires to test our preparation. –Beverly Cameron-Fildes

My hope is that I and all people everywhere not lose our connection to ourselves, each other, and the earth. –Marcy Risque

It is my strong wish for 2023 that neighbors will learn to appreciate how much ALL their neighbors (humans, birds, animals, and trees) dearly love and need to experience the quiet symphony of nature without the awful sudden interruption of gunfire. It is my strong wish that they discover and use the rifle ranges near Bullards Bar Dam, or Indian Valley, and leave our peaceful beautiful neighborhoods peaceful for all! –Linda L. Brown

I wish for the planet, as always, peace. For myself, I wish for the patience and wisdom and eloquence to convince others of the urgency of acting to preserve the earth for our children and grandchildren! –Janie Kesselman

Editor's Note – Marcy Risque

Happy New Year! With another year behind us, with its losses as well as gains, we look forward to 2023 with hope – perhaps hesitantly, given events throughout the world – but with hope all the same.

In spite of life's interruptions and challenges, our Camptonville community continues to thrive with individuals (many of whom are highlighted in this issue) who are committed to making the world a better place.

Here's to each of us striving to be kinder, gentler, and more accepting of ourselves and of all beings everywhere.

Water Rate Increase for Camptonville

By Richard DicKard, CCSD, Camptonville Water District

This is to notify you of PROPOSED new rates for water as required by Article XIII D, Section 6, of the California Constitution (Proposition 218). Details concerning the reasons for the proposed increase and your opportunity to protest the proposed new rates are posted at the Community Center, Post Office, and Lost Nugget Market.

Public Hearing

A Public Hearing to consider the proposed rates will be held at the regular meeting of the Camptonville Community Service District at the Community Center on January 19, 2023 at 6 pm for the purpose of receiving oral and written comments, and tabulating written protests to the proposed rates.

Water Rate Amount

The Residential rate continues to be $65 per month and the proposed rate for Commercial is $100, effective on February 1, 2023, if finally approved.

The amount of water allotted per water connection will be 7,000 gallons per month, and the amount of available water will be evaluated monthly. Water District users will be informed of the amount available with their monthly water bill. That amount is dependent on the amount of water available from the water district's surface (Campbell Gulch), existing ground water sources (two wells and hopefully a third more productive well). The intent is that there is an even distribution of water to all customers.

Please conserve water. At this time the CWD is not in a position to provide water for irrigation. If you wish to irrigate outdoor plants it will be necessary for you to set up a holding tank and arrange for water delivery from a private source, at your expense.

Protest Procedures

Any affected customer may submit a written protest to the proposed water rates; however, only one written protest per parcel filed by an owner or tenant of the parcel will be counted.

Each protest must:

- (1) be in writing;
- (2) state that the identified property owner/customer opposes the proposed water rates;
- (3) identify the property for which the protest is made (by assessor's parcel number);
- (4) include the name and signature of the property owner/customer;
- (5) be received prior to the close of the Public Hearing on April 28, 2023.

Protests submitted by e-mail, facsimile or other electronic means WILL NOT BE COUNTED. Written protests may be mailed to: CWD, PO Box 327, Camptonville, CA 95922

Community Center Happenings

By Richard DicKard, CCSD

December 2022 was a busy month at the Community Center! Here's a rundown of how the Center has been a hub of the community.

Rally Point provided free, fun activities for 10 to 15-year-old Foothill teens throughout December.

Harmony Health's Clinic on Wheels provided health services and COVID vaccinations on Fridays. (Please use them to keep this valuable medical service coming to Camptonville!)

Ho, Ho, Ho! Santa Claus came to our Community Center Friday, December 16th, with gifts for all of Camptonville's children. Along with visiting Santa, there was food and a raffle of some great gift baskets.

More and more people have been attending Coffee@The Center, (including many from our neighboring communities), bringing a plentitude of tasty dishes and good conversations. Coffee will continue after the holidays, starting again on January 7th. Rochelle Bell is always looking for people interested in co-hosting Coffee. Please contact her at 530-288-3550.

The Community Center Renovation is underway! The west front half of the building was removed to see the extent of the dry rot. More stucco removal needs to be done to find the full extent of the dry rot. This next step will be in early January as weather permits. We need help to continue this effort to renovate our Community Center! Give me a call to volunteer: 530-288-3479, or email: rjdickard@gmail.com

Here's what's happening In January:

- Coffee@The Center continues 10 am-Noon.
- Qi Gong will resume on Saturdays, 12:30 pm, after Coffee.
- The Clinic on Wheels will be at the Community Center Fridays 9:30 am to 3:30 pm.
- Also on the 14th, Wordsmiths & Music Makers will present local writers and musicians performing their craft from 6:30-9:30 pm. It will be a great evening of entertainment and light refreshments.

The Camptonville Community Service District will return to meeting at the Center on Thursday, January 19th at 5:30 pm. There will be a public hearing on a water rate increase for the Camptonville Water District at 6 pm (see pg 2).

Camptonville Students Excel on State Tests

By Patrick Brose,
 Superintendent/Principal

Happy New Year from Camptonville School to everyone! As you receive this month's Courier, our students are headed back to the classrooms to start off the new year and continue their amazing journey of learning.

I usually don't make a big deal about state test scores, but California just released the data dashboard and Camptonville School has exceeded expectations and state metrics! Our school scored high in Language Arts and medium in Math, while the rest of the state performed far lower in those metrics (low in both areas). Our staff and students work hard and have come out of the pandemic ahead of the rest of the state in learning — great job!

This is wonderful news for us, and is just the start in our continued excellence in education here on the hill. I hope you all have a fantastic New Year, and please stop by and say "hi" sometime!

A Magical Night in Camptonville!

By Jessi Mullins

Santa arrived on the volunteer fire truck, and was greeted by a large group of children and their families hootin' and hollerin' in excitement. Santa was then followed by kiddos who lined up and waited patiently to have a special chat with him. He was able to visit with 80 kiddos throughout the evening. A gift and stocking full of goodies was given to each child.

Christmas Club ladies served up delicious all-you-can-eat soup and bread from their own soup kitchen. They tried to fill all the tummies before everyone indulged in free cookies and hot cocoa. Raffle winners went home with their baskets. Neighbors and strangers visited the night away. Holiday music and conversations filled the warm, welcoming, cheerful Center as everyone shared holiday joy. It was a magical night!

Thank you to everyone who made this event possible, and thank you to all who came out to enjoy this night. Santa Night wouldn't be successful without the kids and community members there to enjoy it!

Thank You to Retiring Yuba County 5th District Supervisor, Randy Fletcher

By Shirley DicKard

With great appreciation, we thank Randy Fletcher for serving as our 5th District Supervisor since 2015. Randy, along with his wife Kathy (we know how much this job is a partnership!) have worked with us 24/7 to bring Camptonville's needs to the county. Thanks to the Fletchers, we now have better roads, water, and fire resiliency. We wish you a well-earned retirement!

Christmas Food Distribution a Rousing Success!

By Lisa Baker, YFACA Christmas Program Coordinator

Yuba Foothills Agricultural Communities Association (YFACA, Dobbins) recently held their annual Christmas Family Food Box distribution, which was again a fantastic effort! This year more than ever, the need was apparent. And as always, neighbors stepped up to help neighbors. With many heartfelt thanks to the generosity of our donors and volunteers, we succeeded!

Each box/bags set contained many fresh, canned, and boxed components for each daily meal (plus everything needed for the holiday feast), toys, and toiletries. The families had help at a time when it was really needed, and they very much appreciated everything.

YFACA members, community members, and volunteers from the food pantry put in many hours of shopping, bagging, and boxing everything. Many thanks to the BSA Troop 6400 for getting everything loaded into vehicles.

Merry Christmas Yuba County!

It has been an honor serving as your representative for the past eight years. From the devastation of the Cascade fire, our community has rebuilt and reborn. It's been my passion to implement programs to better manage our forests, reduce wildfire risk, increase public safety, fund infrastructure improvements, and build relationships at Federal, State & local levels. Thank you for your trust and support.

Kathy & I send you our heartfelt prayers for a wonderful Christmas, and peace and joy for the year to come.

Yuba River Ranger District Report for January

By Amanda Siciliano, USFS, Yuba River Ranger District

- Our Camptonville office is currently closed until further notice
- You can still contact the Yuba River Ranger District by calling 530-362-8259, Monday-Friday 8 am-4:30 pm. In-person appointments can be made if needed for some services.
- The Nevada City Supervisor's Office is open 9 am-4:30 pm Monday-Friday. 530-265-4531.

Fuelwood cutting permits will be available for purchase in January. Permits can be obtained one of three ways: by coming into the Nevada City office during regular business hours, by calling our Nevada City or Camptonville office, or by mail. When mailing your permit request, you must include your full name, identification number, address, phone number, vehicle information, the type of permit you are requesting, and a check or money order. The permit will be processed and mailed back to you.

Residential burn permits can be obtained online at burnpermit.fire.ca.gov, or by visiting our Nevada City office during regular business hours. Remember to keep your piles 4' x 4' or smaller, never leave a fire unattended, keep a water source on hand, and make sure the fire is dead out before leaving the area. Before burning, always check to determine whether it is an allowable burn day by calling 530-274-7928 for Nevada and Sierra counties, and 530-741-6299 for Yuba County.

Trees for Non-Tree People

By Chris Mills

The previous newsletter included an introduction to the three most common conifer tree species in this area, the Ponderosa Pine, Douglas Fir, and Incense Cedar. The next three conifers, in order of local prevalence, are the White Fir, Giant Sequoia, and Sugar Pine.

The White Fir is in the genus Abies, the true firs, whereas the so-called Douglas Fir is a Pseudotsuga, which means false hemlock. The White Fir is one of the prettiest trees around, with groups of five symmetrically arranged branches originating from the same point on the trunk, light colored bark, light colored needles "upswept" off the twigs, off-white sapwood and dark brown heartwood. The wood is very lightweight, which lowers its value as firewood. These trees occur sparsely on dry hillsides and ridgetops; more commonly on north slopes and in the canyons. If you have one, please don't kill it.

The Giant Sequoia is native further south in the Sierra at a higher elevation (4,000 to 7,200 feet), but it also likes our climate here. This species is the most massive organism that has ever lived on earth. The (couple of hundred) local specimens were planted in the 1970s, 80s and 90s, and some are visible toward the north end of the Pike City Road. There is also one in front of the Pliocene Ridge School in Pike.

The Sugar Pine, with bluish-green needles three to five inches long, formerly as common as the Ponderosa Pine, has suffered a two-pronged decline, and so is now only a small fraction of the pines in the area. During the 20th century, many Sugar Pines of all ages died from a fungal infection called Blister Rust. Because of this vulnerability they were not planted after logging. This is the pine with the sixteen inch long cones; don't stand under one when the wind blows. Each Pine tree species has a characteristic number of needles in a bundle. The Sugar Pine is a five needle pine; the Ponderosa three. These two pines are the largest pines in the world, and are two of the six largest tree species in North America.

It is noteworthy that before Europeans arrived in America, there were at least fifty species of trees that had trunks up to ten feet thick!

A Naturalist's Review of 2022

By Katie O'Hara-Kelly

This past year was an exceptional one for viewing wildlife in our area. We lucked out and didn't have much smoke from wildfires, so I was able to be out in the wild way more than in 2021. Here are some of the highlights of this past year, in words and photos. Enjoy!

Mammals – One of the most amazing sightings I had this year was early one morning in my own neighborhood. I was out on the bridge that crosses the North Yuba River, and as I looked down at the river, a doe and her two fawns appeared. She turned and looked at me and froze, and in that instance her two fawns started nursing, right in the river. They stayed there nursing for about 20 seconds until their mom decided to move on, and then they all crossed the river. WOW!

Another incredible sighting was seeing a herd of 15 Pronghorns in Sierra Valley. I had been out bird watching with Rod and Rochelle, when Rochelle spotted the herd just off the road. We've seen Pronghorns before, but usually no more than five or six at one time. How lucky to see so many of them all together!

I saw Northern River Otters in the North Yuba River and surprisingly, one at Gray Lodge this year. I also had five Black Bear sightings this year – unusual, as I rarely see them. I saw two Marmots and several Mule Deer this summer up in the Lakes Basin, which is also quite unusual!

Birds – To my delight I saw some baby coots, or cootlings, for the first time ever in Sierra Valley. They are bald with bright yellow-orange downy feathers. A Bittern and a nesting Sandhill Crane were two more wonderful sightings in Sierra Valley. In the Lakes Basin I came across a pair of nesting Black-backed Woodpeckers, which are very uncommon. I revisited the nest and watched discreetly from a distance three times last summer – what a thrill! I was also excited to see a juvenile Cooper's Hawk near the Lakes Basin Campground. In my own neighborhood, we were surprisingly visited by a Great Horned Owl for about a week. My husband and I saw it several times on our daily walk. What a sighting!

Wildflowers – This year was an incredible year for wildflowers – there were more this year than in any previous year. We saw meadows filled with hundreds to thousands of Slender Primroses, White Brodiaeas, Paintbrushes, Fireweeds, Bistorts, Camas, Leopard Lilies, and Buttercups. To my delight, I also saw Sugar Sticks blossoming for the first time ever, as well the fringed staminodes of the Grass of Parnassus. New to me this year were Jacob's Ladders and Fringed Pinesaps. Such beauty!

I'm so looking forward to another year of exploring my neighborhood, observing wildlife, and enjoying all the beauty that surrounds us, and I hope you are too. Author Ellen Meloy states it eloquently in the following quote from her book The Anthropology of Turquoise: "For me it is simply instinct, and perhaps this is all that a person can try to put into each of her days: attention to the radiance, a rise to the full chase of beauty."

Thanks for reading my column. May beauty surround you in the year to come. (Enjoy Katie's weekly blog at: northyubanaturalist.blogspot.com)

Making Lemonade

By Beverly Cameron-Fildes

The old adage, "When life gives you lemons, make lemonade" got me to thinking. Where does the "sweetener" come from?

With 2022 in the rear view mirror, and 2023 looking like a fresh field of snow, many take this time to make new year's resolutions. We look at the new year as a time to make improvements in our life in some way, whether it be losing weight, exercising more, or even just planning ahead. I know I've made plenty of promises to make just those very improvements. And they last for a while, like the fresh snow... until the first "lemon" drops in my lap. That's when resolve begins to "melt" and I find my determination slipping, reverting back to the old pre-resolution habits. It's not pretty.

This is what got me to thinking about making "lemonade" and where the "sweetener" comes from. I realized that the "sweetener" had to come from within me. That no amount of "sugar" from other sources was going to be the ingredient to make the recipe right.

A couple of years ago a friend gave me a journal that encouraged looking for a "sweetener." The journal's format asked the writer to do one's best to find three things that could be recorded as gratitude. Each week had seven sections for days of the week, and three lines for each day's gratitude. Each page had an inspiring quote, sometimes by a notable person, and others by people I'd never heard of. But all gave me something to encourage my search for what was good in my life. One of my favorite quotes came from Marcus Aurelius. "When you arise in the morning, think of what a precious privilege it is to be alive – to breathe, to enjoy, to love." And an even simpler one from Willie Nelson. "When I started counting my blessings, my whole life turned around."

In this new year, I know we'll all encounter "lemons;" however, I hope you will find the "sweetener" in life to make "lemonade." Happy New Year.

Yuba Water Agency Board Adopts New 5-Year Plan

By Bonnie Dickson, Yuba Water Agency

The Yuba Water Agency Board of Directors has approved a new strategic plan to guide the agency's decision-making and investments over the next five years.

The 2023-2027 plan maintains Yuba Water's existing mission and vision statement and includes six updated, overarching strategic priorities with 29 supporting objectives and 105 action-based strategies to guide implementation. The plan also outlines budgeting and resource allocation priorities.

The 2023-2027 strategic plan is an update to the agency's previous five-year plan and was developed during several dedicated special board meetings over the last year. The complete plan is available on the agency's website at www.yubawater.org

Yuba Water Board Director Brent Hastey Recognized for his Dedicated Service

By Bonnie Dickson, Yuba Water Agency

Directors recently recognized Brent Hastey for his dedicated service to the Yuba Water Agency. Hastey served on Yuba Water's Board from 1993-2001 as a Yuba County supervisor, and from 2015 as an elected representative of South Yuba County. His term will conclude at the Board's first meeting in January.

Hastey served as chairman of Yuba Water's Board from 2017-2019, where he successfully oversaw a significant period of growth for the agency. He also served on several formal and ad hoc committees, where his vision and leadership helped guide decisions on workforce development, the agency's financials and reserves policy, its Community Impact Grant and Loan Program, and other efforts.

During his tenure, Hastey also played an important role in shaping the agency's Water Education Program, which aims to improve the quality of life and economic prosperity for the people of Yuba County and promote stewardship by helping students, residents, and visitors develop an increased understanding of the region's water and natural resources.

Additionally, Hastey is highly regarded by the broader California water community for his comprehensive and collaborative leadership on water issues, primarily through his work with the Association of California Water Agencies, the largest statewide coalition of public water agencies in the country, and the Northern California Water Association. He was elected as ACWA's vice president in 2016, president in 2018, and served as immediate past president in 2020, each two-year terms, and all positions he held while simultaneously serving on Yuba Water's board of directors.

"It's been a privilege working with Brent during such a transformational time for this agency and during my initial years as general manager," said Yuba Water General Manager Willie Whittlesey. "His deep understanding of and connections in the California water world have been so beneficial in helping us advance our missions and do some really unique, out-of-the-box thinking about how to best position Yuba Water and Yuba County for the future."

Hastey commented, "I truly believe that there is more potential here in Yuba County than in any place in this world, potential that will be fulfilled through the team at Yuba Water."

The South Yuba County board seat will be filled on Jan. 3 by incoming director-elect Wayne Bishop.
