Escape to Love: A Mountain Haven Prequel

Author: Lea Coll

Lea Coll is thrilled to introduce you to her newest series, Mountain Haven, set in the gorgeous mountains of Colorado in ESCAPE TO LOVE!

The plan was to keep my head down, open my barbershop, make it a success, and prove the producers wrong. I could be a successful woman without the cameras pointed at me. I could earn money for something besides selling myself out on TV.

And I could do it in a sleepy little Colorado town, where no one cares who I am, and I can chase my dreams. There is nothing to distract me from my goal. There's so much more to life here than what I had before.

Running into him was a surprise, and a temptation—one I didn't need.

Auctioned To The Billionaire (Part Two)

Author: Kelly Favor

I'm totally innocent. Completely inexperienced in all the important ways.

And now I've been auctioned off to a man I've never met.

Billionaire mogul Dermot Nash is like nobody else I've ever encountered. He's powerful and handsome, with a cold gaze that heats me to my very core.

But there's so much about him that's a mystery – secrets he will never reveal. And the way he makes me feel when he touches me can never make up for the fact that I've been purchased to be used as his personal plaything.

When he's done with me at the end of the month, I'll be discarded and forgotten. A disposable woman, something only the very wealthy can afford...

He can throw me away whenever he wants. And the more time I spend with him, the more I fear I'm falling for him, starting to love a man incapable of feeling anything.

And the worst part of it all?

His secrets can't be anywhere near as bad as the one I'm keeping...

Author: Kali Hart

Talon: Brothers in Arms in Alaska Book 4
A Mountain Man Curvy Woman Second Chance Romance

Macy

I never expected to see Talon again.

After the way we left things, I figured it was for the best.

Until my brother begs me to track down my ex-husband and get him to come to his wedding.

I try everything I can think of, but all my summons go ignored.

Which leaves me with only one choice: go to Alaska and drag Talon on a plane.

It doesn't matter that he doesn't want to see me.

Or that he's refusing to go to the wedding.

The old feelings—and flames—ignite immediately.

We might irritate each other, but we can't seem to keep our hands to ourselves.

The chemistry between us has always been off the charts.

I could so easily fall in love again with the man who drives me up the wall.

But I've kept a secret from Talon.

One I know he won't forgive.

Talon

Macy and I have been married and divorced twice.

After the way things ended the last time, I never expected to see her again.

I tried to move on.

Tried to find someone who made me feel even half of what I always felt with the woman who drives me wild—and completely crazy.

When Macy tracks me down in Three Rivers and tries to strong-arm me into attending her brother's wedding, I'm not happy to see her.

But the more persistent she becomes, the less I can resist the pull between us.

The chemistry is undeniably sizzling.

I could easily fall for the only woman I've ever loved—again.

But her secret might just destroy our last chance at happiness.

The six of us made a pact. We've survived basic together, shared duty stations, and gone to war together. But the needs of the Army have separated us multiple times. That's why we agreed that when each of us got out, we'd each settle down in the same mountainside town of Three Rivers. It was a favorite place to get away on holiday weekends when the six of us were stationed together in Alaska, and as veterans now we can't imagine anywhere better. A place filled with fresh mountain air, friendly people who are there when you need them but happy to keep to themselves when you don't, and unexpected love none of us saw coming.

Sweet & steamy short story insta-love romance with an older mountain man and younger curvy woman. NO cliffhangers. NO cheating. Guaranteed HEA.

LILY

When I read a romance novel, it's fun picturing myself as a protagonist falling head over heels for the book boyfriend. But I never imagined myself as the heroine of a comic book. That is until I'm approached by a group of sweet nerds who ask me to join them in a costume contest at the local comic book shop. BEN

As the owner of a comic book store, I'm known by my customers as the "King of the Nerds." Not a title I want to be yelled out when the spitting image of my favorite comic book heroine walks in my door. It doesn't help that I perpetuate the myth that comic book nerds are virgins. Ask Blaine Stark for a favor.

With a massive snowstorm on the way, it's my last chance to make a trip up the mountain to bring my dear friend supplies until spring.

It's just a quick trip.

Except the storm comes early, trapping us.

Forcing us to share a cabin.
Making it impossible to fight my attraction to the one man I've sworn off.
So I strike a deal.

She's mine.
The one I always secretly hoped to find but never believed I would.
I'll do whatever it takes to prove to her that she's the only one for me.

I didn't expect for her to put a pizza in the oven, and then pass out in the spare bedroom.
Before I knew it, my kitchen was on fire.
My whole house would have burned down, if it wasn't for the Rosewood Grove Fire Department.
With a destroyed kitchen, and no way to pay for the damages, I felt hopeless.
I never would have guessed the hot firefighter who saved my house would be the answer to all of my problems.

Roman

As soon as I saw Maria in that smokey kitchen, I knew I had to have her.
Even in her state of distress, she was beautiful, and exactly what I was looking for in a woman.
Once I found out insurance wouldn't cover the cost of repairs, I knew I needed to do something.
Maria was too prideful to take charity, but I found a way to put her photography skills to use.
I rallied the men, and we put together the first Rosewood Grove Firefighter calendar with Maria.
I just hoped we would sell enough to pay for her kitchen repairs, and Maria's mind would be put to ease.
Then, maybe she would feel comfortable enough to accept my offer, and explore what life had in store for us.

Short story telling a sweet & steamy insta-love romance with a curvy younger woman and an older alpha firefighter hero. Happily ever after! No cliffhangers! No cheating!

I'm a drag queen—Gimme Dong—and I co-own a drag club, Ben Dover's Dragtime Cabaret. I've had men come and go in my life, but one stuck around—in a most peculiar way. Best Friends with the Girl Dad

Author: Kali Hart

Lilian

Ten years ago, my best friend confessed he was in love with me.
I thought he was joking.
He wasn't.
He didn't take the rejection well.
He disappeared.
A decade later, he shows up unannounced at my family's ranch with a daughter.
He thinks we're just going to be friends again.
Well, he's wrong.
Except I'm having a helluva time resisting him.
He's not some lanky, nerdy boy any more.
He's all sexy muscle and melt-your-panties hot.
I'm in big trouble.
I know I should keep my distance, but the harder I fight it, the more I want him.

Josh

After years of living the city life in the fast lane, I decide to move my daughter back to my hometown.
I give up the corporate life for the ranch life.
That I'm working—and living—on Lily's dad's ranch isn't a coincidence.
I selfishly want to see how my former best friend's life has turned out.
Though I decided at six years old that she was the most beautiful woman there ever was, I'm not prepared for the curvaceous beauty she's become.
The attraction between us burns hotter than the scorching sun.
It's not just my daughter who's falling in love with her.
I am too.
This time, I'm not running away.
I'm going to do whatever it takes to prove that the fire blazing between us is the forever kind.

Now that I'm grown, he's still right there, making sure I don't disappear into the pit. Despite his rough exterior, I know his heart. A Heaven to Reach For

Author: R. Cooper

Ara is a festival for spring, for the return of clear skies, for beginnings. People dance, drink, and decorate themselves in blue capes or ribbons, or, for the more bold, with aras blooms, which leave behind a blue stain when crushed. A splash of this blue across the lips indicates someone is open to kisses, while a chain of the delicate blooms in their hair means they are open to more than kissing, whatever that may be.

It is a tradition older and perhaps stronger than the disapproving Church, yet it is still a surprise for Owin, one of the Duke's guardsman, to find the Duke's little priest-mage at the festivities. Owin has long been captivated by the stern, awkward postulant with a habit of broadcasting his moods with sparks of magical energy. Seeing Maschi's lips stained blue finally puts a name to the ache Owin carries in his chest whenever he thinks of the tiny mage. But Maschi is young, learned, and pretty as well as nearly a priest. Not meant for an older, battered guard with no faith or learning.

But Ara is a day—and a night—for love, and magic, and perhaps even grace, if that is to be found in the heart of one scarred giant. When Maschi puts aras blooms in his hair and speaks of Heaven, Owin must make a choice; reach for his, or leave Maschi to dream alone.

Gunnar

Home is my cabin in the mountains, where I decompress.

As a soldier I know I shouldn't get attached. But right now I have everything I've ever wanted—

Except a curvy beauty to share it with.

Then Natalie appears at my front door like a babe in the woods. She's exactly the kind of distraction I don't need while I'm deployed. I'll worry about her. I'll dream of her.

Confession: I'm a romance novel addict.

Cruel is the fact that Gunnar is deploying in just three days.

He says I don't have to wait for him.

But that's not how the story is supposed to go.

Dear Readers,

Ready for a whole new band of mountain men?

These alpha heroes might dwell in the shadows of the Wylder Bluffs, but when duty calls, they show up.

Kennedy:

I didn't think much of the place then.

Now that I'm older—and pretty sure I'm having a quarter-life crisis—I'm feeling extra nostalgic.

I'm in for a huge surprise when I knock on that familiar door.

The cabin is smaller than I remember...

Oh and there's this gorgeous, country-rock god living in it in secret.

Leo:

Split between fighting fires and burnin' up stages with my guitar, my life is chaotic to say the least.

When the fame and attention get to be too much, I get away from it all in my newly purchased cabin in the woods.

Excuse me for being a tad on the grumpy side when a woman shows up on the doorstep of my hideaway.

She's a sweet, curvy little thing...but she's insecure about the birthmark on her face and the extra cushion on her hips I love to squeeze.

How can I convince Kennedy she's more than 'good enough' to be pictured with me?

She's perfect.

And mine.

Dear Reader,

The Wylder Bluffs are heating up!

These firefighting mountain men know what they want.
