Asher: A Curvy Girl and Firefighter Romance (Kings of Fire Book 3)

Author: Sadie King

Asher

Pink hair and bright patchwork dresses isn't usually the look I go for in a woman, but when I see Candy the Clown entertaining the kids at the Firemen's Benevolent Fundraiser, I'm hooked. She's hilariously funny, kindhearted, and her antics between the sheets are as entertaining as her stage performance. We spend the perfect day and one mind-blowing night together. My sides are sore from laughing, and my other bits are sore from, well, did I mention the mind-blowing night?

But when she blows me off, it's anything but funny. It might have been one big act to her, but I've never been more serious in my life.

Candace

I've tried my whole life to stay away from firemen. I moved out of Kings County, I went to drama school, and I set myself up as a children's entertainer. It's the most un-firefighter career I could have chosen.

So when I find out that the man I've just spent the best night of my life with is a fireman, I'm out of there. I swore I'd never date a fireman, and one night of passion isn't going to change that.

Do you love firefighter romance books? Then the Kings of Fire series is for you! Smoking hot tales of insta-love, featuring brave heroes and sassy heroines that will melt your heart.

Her Midnight Mistake: A curvy girl New Year's Eve romance

Author: Barbra Campbell

Do two wrongs make a...Mr. Right?

How many sparkling ciders would it take to drown my misery? I might have found out if a handsome stranger hadn't taken the barstool next to me.

He didn't flinch at my choice of drink. Said all the right things. And when I confessed why I was sitting alone at the bar, he pulled out an engagement ring. Too soon? No worries.

It wasn't actually an engagement ring.

It was adjustable, and its fake diamond made Cubic Zirconia seem like an extravagant option.

It was a piece of costume jewelry from a machine at the front of a grocery store. He'd gotten the trinket for his daughter.

But the way he looked into my eyes when he slid it onto my finger hit me deeper than anything my ex had ever done.

According to my close circle of friends, by the time the clock struck midnight and ushered out the horrendous year, the engagement ring they expected to see on my finger would be from my former boyfriend. He was back in town and everyone seemed to know he was going to make amends and pop the question.

But he was a former boyfriend for a reason.

And the ring sliding on my finger wasn't from him.

Was it wrong to undermine his proposal in such a silly way?

Was it wrong to dream of my fake fiancé being something more?

And was I foolish to believe my knight in shining armor had shown up that fateful night purely by chance?

Is there anything better than falling in love? Finding another HEA? I'll always give you a dirty-sweet story to keep your heart full and your windows steamed!

Her Midnight Mistake is part of the Hot for Curves series of New Year's Eve romances. We're ready to move on from 2020 and wanted to bring you some sexy stories to help pass the time while we wait for the stroke of midnight!

The Tailgate: An Original Short Story

Author: Elin Hilderbrand

A stirring portrait of a relationship at a crossroads, this digital original short story follows two irresistible young lovers as they cope with college life, and invites us into a world we don't want to leave.

Clendenin Hughes first kissed Dabney Kimball during a Nantucket snowstorm freshman year of high school. Ever since that moment - God, the rush, the chemistry! - Dabney has known that she and Clen are an unspittable unit - essentially the same person in two different bodies.

Of course, with Dabney now at Harvard and Clen at Yale, those bodies are 140 miles apart. And traveling is a serious challenge for Dabney, for reasons she'd prefer not to discuss, reasons having to do with her mother (or lack thereof). But with the big Harvard-Yale game coming up, Dabney is determined to make the trek to New Haven to see Clen. She's even borrowed a sexy black outfit from a classmate down the hall.

But when she arrives at the tailgate to see sparks flying between Clen and Jocelyn, a girl with dark blue eyes and luscious black hair, Dabney fears the collapse of a bond she has never questioned before, a bond so important that she'll be lost without it. To learn the fates of Dabney and Clen, read Elin Hilderbrand's novel, The Matchmaker.

Emily

My job sucks, the city is awful and I've failed the LSATS more times than I can count. All I want to do is go back to Montana.

But then I'd have to admit to everyone I was wrong when I decided to leave. Everyone, including Ben. Sweet Ben, who was my first love, who I've never really gotten over.

It also means I find myself face to face with Ben, after all these years.

I met him in the kind of place where bad things happen. The kind of place where women fall to their knees, call men sir, and get lashed with a belt.

Gage Stratford. Dark, damaged, cold-blooded and gorgeous, with secrets so deep you could drown. He touched me that night, made me feel things that excited and terrified me in equal measure.

When I turned up at my internship the next day, I was shocked to find he was my new boss. My billionaire boss was the one who had made me feel like I couldn't help but fall to my knees and do whatever he commanded.

He says he can't stay away from me. That he needs to make me his submissive, to take me over his desk, to punish me and make me his.

But our horrific pasts have made us who we are, and to get close to him means to crack each other open and expose the very things we've worked so hard to bury. And when our secrets come out, not only our love but also our lives will be on the line -- leaving us bound together forever, or destroyed and shattered beyond repair.

Being together isn't an option.

Kidnapped by Her Mate (An Ironhaven Pack Romance Book 5)

Author: Piper Fox

Garrett hated late night calls at the station. Not because they made the mad dash out the door that much harder, getting out of bed, but because they usually meant someone was losing everything they owned to a fiery blaze.

On the outskirts of town, close to the Bellemare border—his wolf immediately picks up on the scents of gasoline and grain liquor. Someone purposely started the fire.

She was all alone, no wolf to protect her.

Garrett never would've taken a woman against her will, but he can't let her stay in a half-burnt house, so close to Bellemare territory when someone is trying to kill her.

Now that he's kidnapped her, though, his wolf is less concerned with arsonists, and more concerned with the curvy blonde just begging to get bit.
