SMALL LUXURY HOTELS OF THE WORLD

TWO STORIES. ONE HOUSE. A MYSTERY TO BE UNRAVELED

THE GAME IS FLEMING'S. THE HOUSE IS EÇA'S

In 1941, Ian Fleming passed through Estoril. It is said that the atmosphere of the Estoril Casino, especially the baccarat tables, inspired the universe of Casino Royale. Decades earlier, the Palacete de Valdemouro intertwined its own history with the family of Eça de Queiroz, one of the greatest figures in Portuguese literature.

This New Year's Eve, these two universes intersect in a two-night stay, with a program that combines gastronomy, gambling, and mystery.

Upon arrival, each guest receives clues that pave the way for a succession of events. Throughout the night, characters, clues, and suspicions lead to a mystery whose outcome will only be revealed at the right moment.

At the Palacete, not everything is as it seems. And nobody knows the whole story.

SOME STORIES ARE READ. OTHERS ARE LIVED.

IT ALL BEGINS UPON ARRIVAL

DECEMBER 31ST

Upon arrival at the Palacete, each guest receives an envelope with clues. The first clue has been given, but the story hasn't yet revealed all its cards.

From 5 PM onwards, the Eça room transforms into a games room, with a baccarat table set up for eight participants.* The atmosphere takes shape, the first details spark curiosity, and night approaches.

In the early evening, the guests gather in the lobby for a welcome toast. It is at this moment that the Host interrupts the tranquility of the reception with an unexpected announcement:

There is a murderer among the guests.

Suddenly, every glance may hide a clue. Every conversation may reveal a detail. And each guest becomes part of a story whose ending remains a secret.

FAITES VOS JEUX. PLACE YOUR BETS.

Limited to eight participants, on a first-come, first-served basis. Registration will be done at reception, where a waiting list will be available if all places are filled.*

THE DINNER

THE FIRST HAND

Seven courses created by Chef João Gomes, paired with wines selected for the occasion.

The dinner begins before the first course arrives.

Among the clues kept in each guest's envelope, one leads to the discovery of the menu. It's the first hint of a gastronomic experience where each dish corresponds to a poker hand, revealed throughout the dinner.

While the kitchen takes center stage and jazz accompanies the beginning of the evening, the game continues at the table. In the middle of dinner, an unexpected deck of cards is passed around to each table. Guests are challenged to cut the cards, but what's at stake remains a secret until the moment of revelation.

Seven hands and a night where gastronomy intersects with suspense, until the very last card.

At Casino Royale, even the menu is part of the game.

THE BALL

THE GAMES ROOM

The central moment of Casino Royale.

The house closes. The table opens.

At midnight, the croupier announces the end of the game with a final "Rien ne va plus". Twelve raisins, a touch of fleur de sel from the Ria, and sparkling wine from Bairrada mark the arrival of 2027. The cards are dealt. A new story begins.

GRAND FINALE

At 00:30, the Grand Hand gathers the guests in a final moment of suspense and complicity, led by the Host. Suspicions intertwine, the latest clues make sense, and everyone awaits the revelation: who's the murderer?

The Grand Hand is a playful dynamic, without money bets or monetary prizes.

After the revelation, music takes over the night. The game ends, but the celebration continues.

Open bar: from midnight to 2:00 AM.
