IndyTalks: Mining for Dollars

Is it time to change the way we tax mining? Join us for a lively conversation with former Director of the Legislative Counsel Bureau Lorne Malkiewich, longtime mining lobbyist James Wadhams and PLAN Executive Director Laura Martin.

Moderated by Jon Ralston and Daniel Rothberg

Tuesday, March 16 - 6:00 p.m.

ABOUT US

In January 2017, we became Nevada's first statewide 501(c)3 nonprofit news site dedicated to covering government, policy, politics and people. Our aim? Provide a free source of in-depth news, thoughtful opinions and meaningful civic events designed to inform the public and elevate dialogue on important topics. Our tag line reflects this goal:

Your state. Your news. Your voice.

From IndyTalks interviews with Govs. Sandoval and Sisolak to IndyForums on ballot and key policy issues to our IndyChats luncheons with local and state officials, we have strived to provide informed conversations aimed at shining light on crucial topics in Nevada.

Now, we are pleased to announce our second event of 2021, focused on mining taxation in Nevada.

In light of the risks and restrictions of holding an on-site event amid the COVID-19 pandemic, our event will be livestreamed on our YouTube page — and will be available afterwards on an on-demand basis.

We hope you will support this event and our work through generous sponsorship.
