

The NEVADA INDEPENDENT

IndieTalks: The rise of nonpartisans in Nevada

By the 2022 election, Nevada voters will be segmented in three nearly equal camps — Democrats, Republicans and nonpartisans/others. How have non-major party voters gained near-parity with the major parties? Which way do they lean? What issues move them? How can the major parties appeal to them? Join us for a wide-ranging discussion.

ABOUT US

In January 2017, we became Nevada's first statewide 501(c)3 nonprofit news site dedicated to covering government, policy, politics and people. Our aim? Provide a free source of in-depth news, thoughtful opinions and meaningful civic events designed to inform the public and elevate dialogue on important topics. Our tag line reflects this goal:

Your state. Your news. Your voice.

From IndyTalks interviews with Govs. Sandoval and Sisolak to IndyForums on ballot questions and key policy issues to our IndyChats luncheons with local and state officials, we have strived to provide informed conversations aimed at shining light on crucial topics in Nevada.

Now, we are pleased to announce our third event of 2021, focused on the recent rise of nonpartisan voters in Nevada.

We hope you will support this event and our work through generous sponsorship.
