

Viva Technology publishes its annual list of top 100 next unicorns highlighting the strength and dynamism of european tech

Paris, Wednesday March 16, 2022 - VivaTech in partnership with GP Bullhound today released its 2022 "Top 100 Next Unicorns", its annual list of the 100 most promising scale-ups in Europe (including UK and Israel) - having the attributes to reach a potential valuation of USD 1 billion or more, in the near future. According to the 2019, 2020 and 2021 lists, more than 40% of the nominated companies have already become Unicorns to date!

This list was compiled by Viva Technology, the biggest startup and tech event in Europe, in partnership with global technology investment bank GP Bullhound, with the support of Capgemini Ventures, European Innovation Council, White & Case and with contribution from five of the world's most reputable investment funds: Accel, Balderton, Eurazeo, Northzone and Partech.

Julie Ranty, Managing Director of Viva Technology, said: "Once again, this year's Top100 scale-ups list demonstrates the extraordinary potential of European technology. Selecting only 100 potential future unicorns is becoming more and more challenging each year given the exponential trajectory of European startups between 2021 and 2022. Our mission at Vivatech is to support the emergence of European digital champions. We are delighted that more and more startups putting sustainability at the heart of their challenges and their model are part of the top 100."

Manish Madhvani, Managing Partner at GP Bullhound, commented: "The European tech ecosystem is a force to be reckoned with, and the pandemic has only further solidified its status as a maturing sector competing on the global stage. We want to spotlight the firms that are fuelling this unprecedented innovation. In 2021 alone, the value of Europe's tech unicorns has almost doubled, driven by the active public market landscape and an increasing number of mega funding rounds. We can be really proud of the ecosystem we have built, and the strength and calibre of this year's Top 100 list demonstrates that this is only the beginning of another impressive year for European tech."
