Gibson,

Coach Tommy West of Clemson:

I was really disappointed at some things that happened today and probably the biggest one was our inconsistency in the running game. Of course, you can't go around committing turnovers and hope to keep the other team off the board all of the time. But overall today, we just weren't consistent.

The defense did some good things today, but the improvement gap is wide open.

We brought in a lot of game plan today, but we didn't use all of that much of it. We never got a consistent running game going.

I thought Nealon (Greene) did a good job with the two-minute drill right before the half. We took advantage of what they were giving us. We gave us some short gains on defense, but we did not give up the long one.

I believe we got to look at everyone we wanted to, but we've got to improve in that turnover department. And I was disappointed in that last touchdown we gave up.

I think we had a pretty good meeting at halftime talking about the things that we have to do, and I think the members of the team understood what we were talking about.

Most teams will make a vast improvement between the first and second games, and after N. C. State's opening win at Syracuse, we know that (Coach) Mike (O'Cain) has struggled the last two years, but a win like that could really get the Pack off the launching pad.

We gotta get better up front.
