What Are The Types Of Dentures That You Can Go For?

Dentures are important parts of dentistry that are often prescribed to patients dealing with severe pain or toothache, missing teeth, difficulty in chewing and other tooth-related issues. If you have been facing any of these issues, you must talk to your dentist as soon as possible. However, here are the most common dentures you can go for, depending on your requirements and preferences.

1. Plastic Removable Denture

These are made with acrylic and are removable, which you will need to clean at night with water or denture cleaner. This kind of denture is easy to clean and can help you regain your beautiful smile and ability to chew at a lower price. They are usually complete dentures. Plastic removable dentures, in most cases, look like your natural teeth.

3. Flexible Dentures (Valplast)

These are usually removable partial dentures that are easy to wear and comfortable. These are usually more expensive than metal dentures and other options because of the comfort these kinds of dentures provide. These can last for around 5 years and allow patients to chew all the food items they love.

So, there are options available that you can go for depending on your preferences and requirements. All the denture options are 100% safe to use. With Dr.Garg's Multispeciality Dental Center, you can get the perfect one.
