All You Need to Know About Pakistani Wedding Dresses –

Being beautifully unique, Pakistani wedding dresses display a true sense of belongingness and diversity through culture and traditions. The fancy gowns incorporate sparkly embellishments and vibrant colors with marvelous accessories and stunning designs.

A Pakistani wedding has a series of events that is limited to one at a day. The bride and others are expected to wear different colorful dresses for the guests to admire.

During the Maayoun and Mehendi, yellows and greens are generally preferred, lighter shades are worn at Walima and as usual, reds are preferred on Baraat. When it comes to make-up, things are really kept simple before the main event. Even though you can look for simple dresses for other ceremonies, but when it comes to Barat, you have to outshine and no simple dress will work there. The mehendi outfit is also a vital component of a Pakistani wedding.

Types of Pakistani Wedding Dresses –

It's the Islam from which Pakistani culture is influenced. Therefore, the traditions are gorgeous and have the next level of humbleness. Pakistani wedding dresses are meant to be admired for intricate detailing on vibrant shades of luxurious fabric. The creativity that these dresses hold has deep roots in history. Below, we have mentioned a list of designer white nikkah dresses that you can wear at your loved ones' wedding.

Angrakha Style Frocks –

These are highly adaptable traditional outfits prominently worn at Mehendi. If you are looking for a dress that will never go out of style and trend, then this is the one. It's a combination of both Indian and Pakistani cultures. The highlighting feature of this frock includes a long tassel running down the detailed embroidery. If you want then you can add up more embellishments or thread work.

Pishwas Style Frocks –

Pishwas-style dresses are one of the most traditional and elegant Pakistani nikkah dresses. The style has been adopted by almost all popular models and actors. The best part of pishwas-style dresses is that you have no limits to the type of accessories and fabrics embellishments used. The end product, irrespective of the fabric used, looks fluent.

Gharara Style –

The gharara or sharara outfit has its roots originating from Lucknow. It is a pair of wide-legged pants that drop on the knees. The versatile nature of this appeal is a must-have outfit for weddings. You need to pair it up with a plain shirt or dress it up with a peplum-style dress. Regardless of what you wear with it, you will have a striking and stylish appearance.

Lehenga Choli –

If you have ever attended any marriage then you must have heard of the evergreen lehenga choli. For most ladies, this one is their favourite. When you have these dresses on, people will notice you from a distance as you will be the centre of attraction. You will be the start of the night and feel like a twirling princess.

Gold Glam –

Some famous brands like RaniaZara have added a golden shine to their wedding dress collections. You can combine these with other hues to make your golden wedding/Mehendi outfit look attractive and worth staring at. Golden shade works can be combined with dark color outfits. Be it a lehenga or gharara, a little golden makes everything perfect.
