To Whom It May Concern:

Re: Distribution of National Justice Project Resources to Indigenous Communities.

Hitnet delivers information and services into 50 Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander communities via Hitnet Hubs (touchscreen kiosks) and a mobile App.

The content is culturally appropriate and carefully curated for this audience and we believe the resources to be developed by the National Justice Project will be a great addition to this catalogue. All of the content is around the social determinants of health, empowering marginalised communities to make their own choices.

Yours Sincerely

Julie Gibson
