Re: Notice of Southwestern Public Service Company's Application for Approval of a System
Resiliency Plan in Public Utility Commission of Texas Docket No. 57463

To the Honorable Mayor:

Our customers expect reliable electricity. At Xcel Energy, we know it's our job to deliver it safely, 24 hours a day, 365 days a year. That is why we're committed to modernizing and hardening our grid, while ensuring continued safe operation.

Enacted by state legislation and implemented under Public Utility Commission of Texas rule (Commission), system resiliency plans pave the way for accelerated system upgrades to enhance the resilience of energy providers' distribution and transmission systems to better respond to extreme weather, wildfires and other reliability threats.

On December 31, 2024, Southwestern Public Service Company (SPS) filed with the Commission an application for approval of a system resiliency plan pursuant to Public Utility Regulatory Act (PURA) § 38.078 and 16 Texas Administrative Code § 25.62 (Application).
