

Third Survey Critique

Assignment Description and Requirements

Due Date

Saturday, April 27, at 12 PM

Second or third survey critique due by April 27 at noon. All students MUST have submitted at least two survey critiques by April 27, at noon. Students who completed the early-bird critique on time (February 9) are eligible to submit a third critique for this deadline, which will permit them to have the lowest survey critique grade dropped.

Description & Requirements

You will get more out of this course, and enjoy it more if you are actively searching for and critiquing actual survey results. Each student will be responsible for writing short critiques of a survey (2-4 pages), survey question, poll, or interpretation of a survey. The critique should focus on one particular aspect or issue of the report and should be some aspect of survey methodology covered in the course. You should provide a copy of (or link to) to the relevant survey report or release you discuss, although any relevant parts for your discussion should be presented in your paper.

The critique should:

- (1) Focus on one particular aspect or issue of the report, and
- (2) Focus on some aspect of survey methodology covered in the course.

You should provide a copy of (or link to) to the relevant survey report or release you discuss, although any relevant parts for your discussion should be presented in your paper.

Note that:

- Good critiques are 2-4 pages and focus on a specific aspect of survey methodology in depth rather than many aspects lightly.
