COTTAGE EXEMPTION AND HFPO

Cottage exemption is the Crosodo default for this FIPS. The exemption is not a certification. VDACS does not issue a cottage certificate. HFPO is inspection + permit + $40 annual fee. Fairfax County HBB / porch pickup and Fairfax City MHO are local, not HFPO. Read the distinction.

Planning path only — not legal advice. Rules change. Always verify with state and local offices before selling.

VIRGINIA FOOD-LAW LAYER

Cottage exemption and HFPO

Crosodo year one follows the home cottage exemption in Va. Code § 3.2-5130. That exemption is not a certification. VDACS does not issue a cottage certificate. A Home Food Processing Operation (HFPO) is a different path: inspection, permit, and a $40 annual fee on the official application.

Local zoning, HBB, MHO, BPOL, and market insurance are separate papers. A market can require insurance without a state cottage certificate. Fairfax County porch pickup and HBB, and Fairfax City MHO, are local rules. They are not HFPO.

The current Code and the VDACS Home Food Exemptions FAQ (REV JUL 2026) allow internet and phone sales and in-state delivery or mail. Buyers stay in the Commonwealth. Process-authority work: Virginia Tech FPTAN. Not legal advice. Confirm with VDACS (foodsafety@vdacs.virginia.gov / 804-786-3520) and the market.

Martinsville city's rules sit on top of Virginia's state cottage food framework. The state law sets the floor — counties can add but cannot remove protections.

RESEARCH NOTES

Baker's Notes

Research notes, not a state ruling. Baker talk is what people discuss. Official pages are cited separately. Confirm before you sell.

Sell to stores (next level)

Cottage / home-kitchen exemptions are usually direct-to-consumer and not for resale into stores. Selling into retail stores typically requires a state manufactured-food (or equivalent) permit and an inspected production kitchen, plus local zoning and business licensing.

WHAT PEOPLE DISCUSS

People discuss leaving the cottage path when vintage malls or other shops are treated as retail stores. The next application people name is Manufacturer – Establishment Size 0-4, often while using an inspected commercial (restaurant) kitchen. People ask which certification training that application needs, and whether they must submit the restaurant's existing health inspection report themselves. Some bakers say an ANSI Food Protection Manager course meets the training examples in the application guide (training appendix around pages 9–10). Some bakers say if the kitchen is already under VDH inspection, VDACS will contact VDH for inspection information after reviewing the application.

WHAT OFFICIAL PAGES SAY

Virginia's cottage exemption (§ 3.2-5130) is not a path for selling for resale into retail food establishments. VDACS regulates manufactured food establishments under a separate permit. Use the Manufactured Food Establishment Permit Application and Application Guide (REV JUL 2026). Establishment Size is chosen from projected gross annual sales; Size 0-4 is one manufacturer band with matching appendix requirements. Documented food-safety training is required for employees and persons in charge; a Food Handler Certification alone does not meet that requirement. Appendix B lists example courses, including ANSI-approved Certified Food Protection Manager courses. Commercial, shared, commissary, and restaurant kitchens appear on the application; catering / food service stays with VDH. The guide also describes a Retail Food Service MOU between VDACS and VDH for certain market/event situations. Permit FAQ: no separate permit fee; $40 annual inspection fee context.
