THE GREAT TRIANGULAR DUEL

By CAPTAIN FREDERICK MARRYAT

JACK walked up to the boatswain, and, taking off his hat, with the utmost politeness, said to him:
"If I mistake not, Mr. Biggs, your conversation refers to me."

"Very likely it does," replied the boatswain. "Listeners hear no good of themselves."

"It appears that gentlemen can't converse without being vatched," continued Mr. Easthupp, pulling up his shirt-collar."

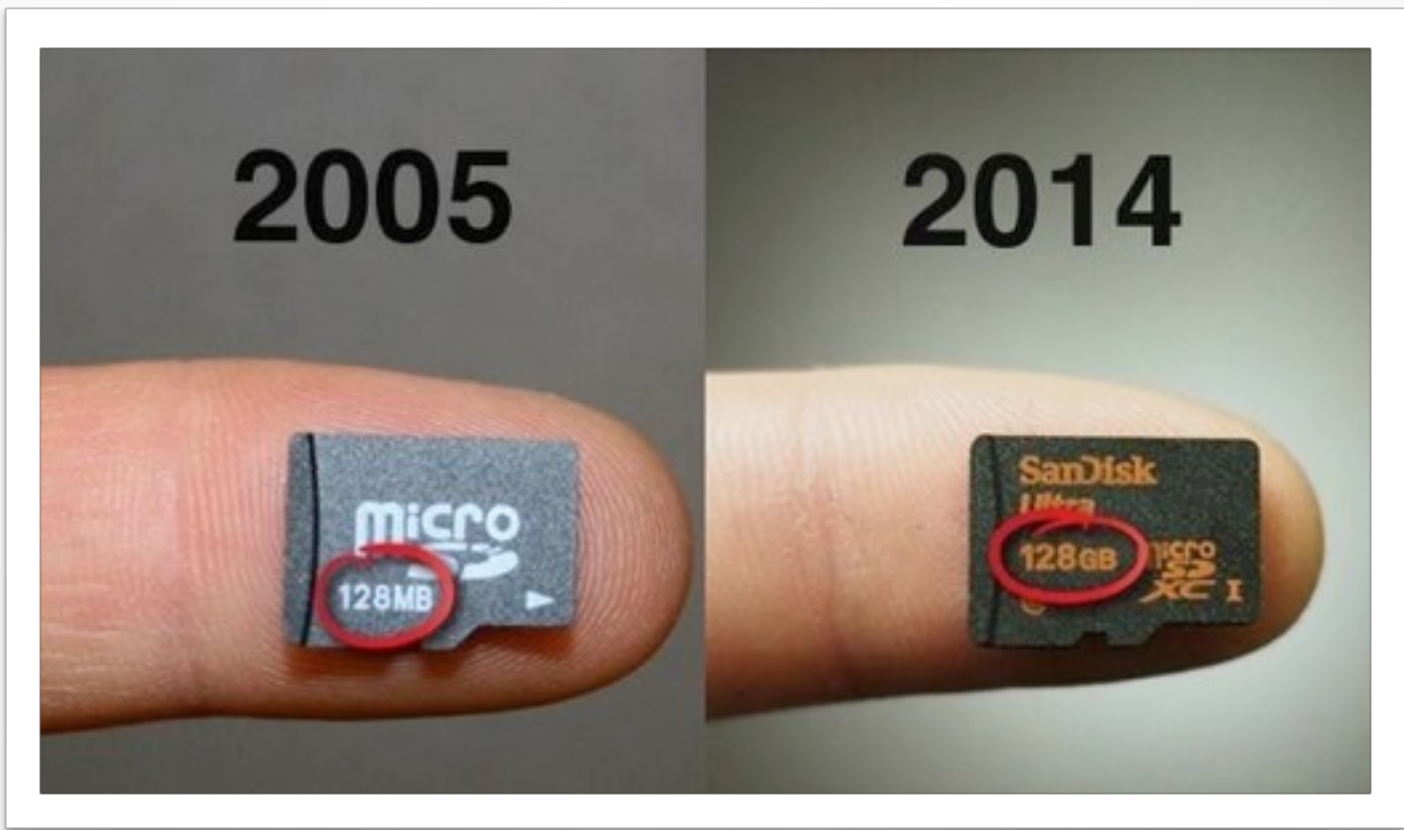

"It is not the first time you have thought proper to make very offensive remarks, Mr. Biggs; and as you appear to consider yourself ill-treated in the affair of the trousers, for I tell you at once that it was I who brought them on board, I can only say," continued our hero, with a very polite bow, "that I shall be most happy to give you satisfaction."
