

T-branch bracket MEK T M

T-branch brackets MEK T are used to make T-junctions from the side of MEK-type lighting support rails.

|  |  |    |     |
|--|--|----|-----|
| Product name                               | MEK T M                                |    |     |
| SKU  | 1449384                                |    |     |
| Material                                   | Steel                                  |    |     |
| Corrosivity category                       | C1-C2                                  |    |     |
| Color                                      | White                                  |    |     |
| Sales unit                                 | PCE                                    |    |     |
| Packing size                               | 10 PCE                                 |    |     |
| Dimensions (mm)Width   Height   Length | 55                                     | 49 | 112 |
| Weight (kg/pce)                            | 0,12                                   |    |     |
| GTIN                                       | 6438377020606                          |    |     |
| Surface finish                             | White RAL 9010 polyester paint coating |    |     |

