When do those tickets go on sale to the general public?

Tickets for Hamilton go on-sale to the public on Monday, January 22 at 10:00 AM at hamilton.denvercenter.org. There is a maximum purchase limit of four (4) tickets per account for the engagement.

I hear Hamilton is sold out. Is it?

Hamilton is not sold out. Tickets are not on sale to the public yet. Tickets for Hamilton go on-sale to the public on Monday, January 22 at 10:00 AM at hamilton.denvercenter.org.

But I am seeing tickets available on other sites now.

Tickets for the Denver engagement are currently not on sale. If you see tickets for sale from a third party, there is a very good chance these are not legitimate tickets.

Please be advised that the Denver Center for the Performing Arts – hamilton.denvercenter.org – is the ONLY authorized ticket provider for Hamilton in Denver. Ticket buyers who purchase tickets from a ticket broker or any third party should be aware that the DCPA is unable to reprint or replace lost or stolen tickets and is unable to contact patrons with information regarding time changes or other pertinent updates regarding the performance.

How much will tickets cost?

There is a maximum purchase limit of four (4) tickets per account for the engagement. Tickets range from $75 to $165 with a select number of $545 premium seats available for all performances.

Will there be a lottery or rush for Hamilton?

There will be a lottery for forty (40) $10 Orchestra seats for all performances. Details will be announced closer to the engagement. The best way to be informed about how the lottery will work is to sign up for alerts at denvercenter.org/Hamilton or follow us on Twitter, Facebook or Instagram @DenverCenter.
