DIALECT WORKSHOP: DIALECTS OF THE SOUTH

Most actors are familiar with the Standard Southern Dialect spoken in Tennessee Williams' plays. But less studied are the broader categories of Southern American dialects featured in plays and movies. We will focus on four main Southern dialects in the U.S.: the Coastal South (e.g., Alabama), Appalachia (e.g., Kentucky), Texas, and Creole/Louisiana. We will also briefly address outliers, such as the dialect spoken in the Ozarks, plus others. We will learn the dialects by working on monologues from plays and movies—from Beth Henley plays (Coastal) to adaptations of literature such as The Grapes of Wrath, and movies such as Bernie (Texas) or even animation like The Princess and the Frog (Cajun). Deepen your dialect skills through a more thorough study of American Southern dialects.

VOICE AND SPEECH WORKSHOP: LINKLATER TECHNIQUE

In this workshop, you'll practice the essential elements of world-famous voice teacher Kristin Linklater's work: breath, touch of sound, resonators, and articulators. Learn how to relax while speaking so you can break away from the confines of your “familiar” voice and into the dynamic, limitless quality of your “natural” voice. Take part in a series of exercises to free the voice from habitual body tension and make connections between thoughts, images, words, and sounds. Students will work on exercises between the first and second classes to assess personal progress.

3 sessions • $200 • 2hr class time

Wed • Apr 15, 22 & 29

6:30 – 8:30pm • Anne Penner

MOVEMENT CLASSES

ACTOR MOVEMENT WORKSHOP – PHYSICAL CHARACTERIZATION VIA VISUAL ART & MUSIC

Every now and then, any creative artist needs a new perspective to shake things up. Actors are no different! In this workshop, we will investigate the use of visual art and music as a way to explore and enhance physical characterization. Actors will be provided with creative tools in order to widen and deepen the range of possibilities as they create a character in rehearsal. It is critical to join physical technique and expansive creativity; this class will also focus on sharpening clarity of expression in our physicality and building a discipline of specificity. Find movement in performance that comes from both an open and free creativity and a focused and dynamic body. Charlie Oates, a celebrated Movement Instructor and Director, whose work and teaching artistry has spanned the country for decades, for this unique and exciting opportunity!
