

Elle Macpherson, 55, snaps back at troll who said she was ruining her face with surgery: 'I'm ageing gracefully without interference'

Elle Macpherson denies having cosmetic surgery after a troll said she's ruining her face.

The 55-year-old supermodel hit back at one of the commenters on her Instagram page.

'The only thing I'm doing is ageing gracefully without interference,' she wrote on Instagram with a shrug emoji. 'Sorry if it doesn't work for your vision of what you think I should look like. I'm me. Healthy happy and nearly 60. Go figure.'

'I'm a bit of a scaredy-cat and I don't want to mess with what there is. At this point, I think it's best to leave what I have alone.'

'Having said that, I do vitamin injections, infusions and I work on my nutrition...

'I've learned that a good smile, good teeth, good hair, good skin, a good mood are worth a thousand injectables and Botox and facials and masks.'

Her secret: Last week Elle stopped by Dr Roberta Del Campo Dermatology & Laser Institute in Miami to keep her skin healthy. Del Campo's is known for focusing on healthy, glowing skin

Last week Elle stopped by Dr Roberta Del Campo Dermatology & Laser Institute in Miami to keep her skin healthy.

Del Campo's is known for focusing on healthy, glowing skin.

The Australian beauty specifically loves the customized treatment duos Del Campo offers such as Hollywood is Clinical Facial which bridges the gap between a mild facial and an invasive peel, designed to resurface the skin, reduce fine lines and encourage cellular renewal.

She also likes to combine treatments such as the Hyperdilute Radiesse, Ulthera and TruSculpt Flex, DailyMail.com has learned.
