

To the saints and faithful brethren...

Feb. 1, '19

It was just a couple of months ago that I did a warm up at DBC for a conference in D.C. on "Depression" The time at DBC went wonderfully and so did the conference at D.C. and we were also able to film all 4 sessions. Just today I did the filming of the introductions and conclusions to each session and by March the whole filming project and the study guide will be finished. Then we will be able to put the completed project in the hands of a whole lot of needy people and a whole lot of churches who need a means to care for its people going through the distress of clinical depression and anxiety.

I say "we" because this was a group effort of Denton Bible. All of you went through it with me and prayed me through it. Your prayers sustained me numbers of times. God has used our struggle to be a great blessing to many.

So... mission accomplished.

all things indeed did work together for good

So, On to Montana,
