In completing this Volunteer Application, I understand, represent, and agree that :

The Church's acceptance of this completed form does not mean that a position for which I am qualified is open or that the Church has agreed to allow me to volunteer my services. The Church is under no obligation to utilize my volunteer services as a result of accepting this completed form. Completion of this form in no way creates a contract between me and the Church.

As part of its procedure for processing this form or evaluating me for volunteer purposes, the Church may obtain an investigative report including information gathered through personal interviews with third parties such as prior employers, family members, business associates and other individuals with whom I am acquainted.

I consent to the Church making any necessary criminal history checks pursuant to this process. This inquiry may include information as to my character, general reputation, and personal characteristics, whichever may be applicable. I have the right to make a written request within a reasonable period of time for a complete and accurate disclosure of additional information concerning the nature and scope of the investigation.

By signing this form, I authorize the Church to request and obtain the information described above. Further, I release the Church, its affiliates, related entries, agents, employee, and officers (collectively referred to as "the Church") and all prior employers or references and record custodians from any claim or liability whatsoever arising out of such a request or any information disclosed in response thereto, and I agree not to bring any action or assert any claim against the Church or such prior employer or reference on account thereof.

A photocopy or facsimile of this authorization shall be as valid as the original. I understand that the ability to be bonded may be a condition of volunteering for some positions. I understand that my providing of false or misleading material information or my failure to state material facts either in this form or in any interviews will result in my immediate release as a volunteer by the Church.

If I am appointed to a volunteer position, I understand and agree that regarding Christian Alternative Dispute Resolution and in keeping with 1 Corinthians 6:1-8, all disputes which may arise between any volunteer and the Church shall be resolved in accordance with the Rules of Procedure for Christian Conciliation, Institute for Christian Conciliation. If efforts to conciliate or mediate the dispute fail, then the matter shall be resolved through binding arbitration. The decision of the arbitrators shall be binding on both parties, and both parties submit themselves to the personal jurisdiction of the courts of the County of Denton, State of Texas, for the entry of a judgment confirming the arbitrators' award. Each party shall bear its own costs, including attorney's fees, related to any mediation, conciliation, or arbitration proceeding. If a dispute results in an award of monetary damages, then use of the conciliation, mediation, and arbitration procedure is conditioned on acceptance of the procedure by the liability insurer of the Church, and the insurer's agreement to honor any mediation, conciliation or arbitration award up to any policy limits. The mediation, conciliation, and arbitration process is not a substitute for any disciplinary process set forth in the employee handbook of the Church, and shall in no way affect the authority of the Church to investigate reports of misconduct, conduct hearings, or administer discipline of volunteers. I understand and agree to be bound by the bylaws, and policies of the Church, and to refrain from any conduct in violation of the Church's teaching or the Church's interpretations of Biblical scripture.

I have read and understand the terms and conditions set forth above and agree to be bound by them. I acknowledge that this is a legal document. I sign this document of my own free act and will.

A Summary of Your Rights Under the Fair Credit Reporting Act

The federal Fair Credit Reporting Act (FCRA) promotes the accuracy, fairness, and privacy of information in the files of consumer reporting agencies. There are many types of consumer reporting agencies, including credit bureaus and specialty agencies (such as agencies that sell information about check writing histories, medical records, and rental history records). Here is a summary of your major rights under the FCRA. For more information, including information about additional rights, go to www.ftc.gov/credit or write to: Consumer Response Center, Room 130-A, Federal Trade Commission, 600 Pennsylvania Ave. N.W., Washington, D.C. 20580.

- You must be told if information in your file has been used against you. Anyone who uses a credit report or another type of consumer report to deny your application for credit, insurance, or employment - or to take another adverse action against you - must tell you, and must give you the name, address, and phone number of the agency that provided the information.
- You have the right to know what is in your file. You may request and obtain all the information about you in the files of a consumer reporting agency (your "file disclosure"). You will be required to provide proper identification, which may include your Social Security number. In many cases, the disclosure will be free. You are entitled to a free file disclosure if:
 - a person has taken adverse action against you because of information in your credit report;
 - you are the victim of identity theft and place a fraud alert in your file;
 - your file contains inaccurate information as a result of fraud;
 - you are on public assistance;
 - you are unemployed but expect to apply for employment within 60 days.

In addition, by September 2005 all consumers will be entitled to one free disclosure every 12 months upon request from each nationwide credit bureau and from nationwide specialty consumer reporting agencies. See www.ftc.gov/credit for additional information.

- You have the right to ask for a credit score. Credit scores are numerical summaries of your credit-worthiness based on information from credit bureaus. You may request a credit score from consumer reporting agencies that create scores or distribute scores used in residential real property loans, but you will have to pay for it. In some mortgage transactions, you will receive credit score information for free from the mortgage lender.
- You have the right to dispute incomplete or inaccurate information. If you identify information in your file that is incomplete or inaccurate, and report it to the consumer reporting agency, the agency must investigate unless your dispute is frivolous. See www.ftc.gov/credit for an explanation of dispute procedures.
- Consumer reporting agencies must correct or delete inaccurate, incomplete, or unverifiable information. Inaccurate, incomplete or unverifiable information must be removed or corrected, usually within 30 days. However, a consumer reporting agency may continue to report information it has verified as accurate.
- Consumer reporting agencies may not report outdated negative information. In most cases, a consumer reporting agency may not report negative information that is more than seven years old, or bankruptcies that are more than 10 years old.
- Access to your file is limited. A consumer reporting agency may provide information about you only to people with a valid need - usually to consider an application with a creditor, insurer, employer, landlord, or other business. The FCRA specifies those with a valid need for access.
- You must give your consent for reports to be provided to employers. A consumer reporting agency may not give out information about you to your employer, or a potential employer, without your written consent given to the employer. Written consent generally is not required in the trucking industry. For more information, go to www.ftc.gov/credit.
- You may limit "pre-screened" offers of credit and insurance you get based on information in your credit report.

Unsolicited "pre-screened" offers for credit and insurance must include a toll-free phone number you can call if you choose to remove your name and address from the lists these offers are based on. You may opt-out with the nationwide credit bureaus at 1-888-567-8688.

- You may seek damages from violators. If a consumer reporting agency, or, in some cases, a user of consumer reports or a furnisher of information to a consumer reporting agency violates the FCRA, you may be able to sue in state or federal court.
- Identity theft victims and active duty military personnel have additional rights. For more information, visit www.ftc.gov/credit.

States may enforce the FCRA, and many states have their own consumer reporting laws. In some cases, you may have more rights under state law. For more information, contact your state or local consumer protection agency or your state Attorney General. Federal enforcers are:
