Applications Open: Fred Rogers Productions Writers' Neighborhood

We are excited to showcase The Fred Rogers Productions Writers' Neighborhood, a fantastic initiative designed for emerging writers focused on building and sustaining a career in children's media. Participants will have the unique opportunity to learn from current writers, story editors, head writers, and producers of popular PBS KIDS shows such as Donkey Hodie, Daniel Tiger's Neighborhood, and Alma's Way. This program offers invaluable insights from top industry creatives to help participants craft engaging narratives that can resonate with young audiences.

Important Dates:

The next application window for the Writers' Neighborhood program is officially open and will close on May 3. We encourage you to share this opportunity with anyone who may benefit from it.

Our Accessible Releases for April!

This month's releases include Pequeñas Aventuras with audio description in Spanish, now available via the Plaza Sesamo YouTube playlist: Pequeñas Aventuras Playlist

About Pequeñas Aventureras

Developed with the support of Dubai Cares and the Inter-American Development Bank (IDB), Pequeñas Aventureras aims to enhance the quality of educational experiences in science and mathematics available for children aged 3 to 6 years. The initiative seeks to reduce the learning gaps that begin to form between girls and boys during the preschool stage.
