Design a Commemorative Stamp

For many years, we have been using stamps on our letters that show a picture of Her Majesty, Queen Elizabeth II. On the sad occasion of her death, let's celebrate The Queen's life by designing our own stamp with a picture that reminds us of her.

My Farewell to Her Majesty, Queen Elizabeth II

Saying goodbye to someone who has died is difficult. We can't speak to them or send them a letter but we can write down our thoughts and feelings. We can also write down what we'd have liked to have said to them if we'd had the chance.

Use the space below to write something to The Queen or about The Queen. Or write about how you are feeling about the death of Her Majesty, The Queen.

These photo cards can be used to prompt discussion about Her Majesty, Queen Elizabeth II. Children can share what they know and remember about her and discuss the ways in which she will be remembered in Britain and around the world. They can also be encouraged to ask questions about her life and death and what will change as a consequence.

Remembering Queen Elizabeth II

On this sad occasion of the death of Her Majesty, Queen Elizabeth II, it can help to think about the fond memories we have of her.

Queen Elizabeth II had many pet corgis.

Draw a picture of a dog here.

One of Queen Elizabeth II's favourite flowers was lily of the valley.

Draw some beautiful flowers here.

Queen Elizabeth II loved to wear hats.

Draw a hat here that you think she would have liked to wear.

Queen Elizabeth II's favourite colour was reported to be blue.

Draw a picture using the colour blue.

Thank You and Goodbye, Queen Elizabeth II

Over the time that Queen Elizabeth II ruled over Britain and The Commonwealth, she helped many charities. Let's say thank you by thinking about four of the charities she supported.

Her Majesty supported the The Royal Canadian Air Force Reserve. Can you draw an aeroplane?

The Queen supported Charing Cross Hospital. Can you draw a hospital?

Thank You and Goodbye, Queen Elizabeth II

Queen Elizabeth II was a patron of Dogs Trust, the UK's largest dog welfare charity. Can you draw a dog?

Her Majesty, The Queen supported the Royal Forestry Society. Can you draw trees in a forest?
