

Overlap the circles of the limbs on top of each other and use split pins to secure the limbs to give them their bendability.