A 'Let's Read Together!' Book

We went into a room called the solar room. There was a big, posh bed. It was so high that you needed steps to get to the top tier!

After visiting several other rooms in the Estate, it was lunch time. We were all hungry. Much to Kit's relief, no thief had been in and taken his lunch box!

It was a damp February morning and we were looking forward to our school trip! When we got off the coach, we could see the Highfields Estate across the field. It looked so big!

Then we got to dress up in costumes. It was fun! King Sam thought she was the chief of Highfields Estate, Gabi loved holding a shield and Mrs Tan took a photo of us all.

We went outside and saw some jousting. Sadly, it started to rain so the show had to end. We were lucky to have seen some of the show because they don't normally do jousting in February.

Kit had left his lunch box on the coach. It was a relief when the coach driver arrived with it. We saw a shiny statue standing beside the gate.
