Can you recreate a different style of art using a computer or tablet?

Can you take a picture of the same scene at different times?
Can you describe what is different?

Select your favourite artist and your favourite painting.
Describe the techniques used by the artist.

Can you create a piece of art that can be coloured in?

The 'Copy and Paste' command saves time. Can you use it to produce a piece of fantastic computer art in under 5 minutes?

Art work should be shared! Can you come up with a list of different ways you could share your computer art?

Not everyone has the chance to see art. Can you describe a piece of art, explaining what it looks like?

Choose a picture and then recreate it using two different techniques. How are they similar? How are they different?

Can you recreate a picture of a dog using Picasso's techniques?

Using a picture of yourself, use Andy Warhol's techniques to colour in your pictures. Consider how you felt at different times of the day to help you.

Can you recreate a family picture using Pointillist techniques?

Which artistic style did you find easiest to recreate? Which was the most challenging? Why?

Digital artists use their skills to produce art in films and computer games.

Picasso's full name is: Pablo Diego José Francisco de Paula Juan Nepomuceno María de los Remedios Cipriano de la Santísima Trinidad Mártir Patricio Clito Ruíz y Picasso.

In 1911, Picasso was arrested for stealing the famous painting, The Mona Lisa. (He didn't actually steal it.)

People have designed robots that can actually produce art!

The name 'Pointillism' was first given to this style of art by people who did not like it and were trying to be rude!

Piet Mondrian was a primary school teacher at first.
He painted in his spare time!

Apparently the first word that Pablo Picasso said was 'pencil'!

George Seurat died young.
He was only 31.

The dots used by Seurat are the same technique used to create pictures on the TV and computers!

Computer art is also known as digital art.

Pat Hines is a digital artist who has created amazing pictures using Microsoft Paint.

Hal Lasko, known as Pixel Painter, also used Microsoft Paint to create pictures even though he had problems with his eyesight.
