They decided to visit their new neighbours, Martha and Tom, who were playing Knights and Dragons. "I would just love to go on a real knight's adventure!" said Tom. "They always sound so exciting!"

Kit and Sam were bored. It was raining and they had been inside all day. "Hey, we haven't used the magic book for a while," said Kit. "Hmm... but where would we go?" sighed Sam.

Q7: What do you think will happen next?

Q1: Why were Kit and Sam bored?

Q2: Why might Tom think knight's adventures sound so exciting?

Thanks to the head knight's instructions, the knights all knew exactly what to do. The young prince was rescued and re-united with his mother.

"What an adventure!" laughed Martha. "It'll be a long time until I'm ready for another one like that."

Once all the new knights were up off their knees, the king began to speak. "My son has been kidnapped by the most dreadful dragon. His mother is worried sick. Your first quest as knights is to rescue him."

Kit and Sam looked at one another, then down at the magic book. "If you can keep a secret...", said Kit, "then maybe we could all go on a real knight's adventure together."

"I'll pack my knapsack!" said Tom excitedly.

Kit, Sam, Martha and Tom arrived at a big castle and went to a large room, filled with people. They were asked to kneel as the king tapped them on the shoulders with his sword.

“I’m a real knight!” whooped Tom.

Q3: Why did Kit and Sam have to make Martha and Tom keep a secret ?

Q4: How might you feel if you were knighted? Why?
