

Making Inferences

Read the passage, look at the picture and record your inferences.

Nina called to her dog, "Benji, here boy!" He bounded up to her and gave her a slobbery lick.

"Hey!" she said smiling, "you know what time it is don't you boy." She gave him a scratch and walked towards the door. Benji stopped by the coat rack and whined.

"Oh, good boy," said Nina, as she reached for the lead, "I'd be lost without you Benji!"

1. What are Nina and Benji going to do?

2. What tells you this?

Draw a picture of what you think Nina and Benji did next...

Making Inferences

Read the passage, look at the picture and record your inferences.

Frankie looked over at the other boys playing on the oval. He wasn't good enough to play soccer with them, but he liked watching, and always crossed his fingers that one day he might be asked to play.

"Oi!" Called Billy, "What are you looking at?" Billy was one of the scariest boys in Frankie's class.

"Um, just watching the game." Frankie stammered back.

"Well, come on then, don't just sit there!" Frankie's jaw dropped, he couldn't believe what was happening.

1. Where is Frankie?

2. What tells you this?

Draw a picture of what you think Frankie did next...

Making Inferences

Read the passage, look at the picture and record your inferences.

Rani sat up in bed. Today's the day, she thought to herself, as she looked out the window. She looked over at the clothes she had carefully laid out the night before. Curly blue wig, yellow funny onesie, oversized red shoes and a packet of face paint. If she was going to look silly in front of the whole school, then at least it was going to be for a good cause.

1. What do you think Rani is going to be dressing as?

2. What tells you this?

Draw a picture of what you think Rani did next...