

Daffodil Day

The Daffodil Day Appeal raises funds for vital research into cancer. It is organised by Cancer Council. The appeal, which runs throughout the month of August, builds up to Daffodil Day. On this day, people come together to help raise money for the charity by collecting donations, buying merchandise and wearing yellow.

Cancer Council use the funds raised on the day for cancer research. The research into cancer by scientists gives hope and saves lives. Daffodils are a symbol of that hope.

Some of the ways your school can raise money on Daffodil Day include selling daffodils or official Cancer Council Daffodil Day merchandise, organising a yellow-themed dress day and holding a bake sale.

The amount that your school raises will provide much needed funds to continue cancer research as well as support cancer patients and their families. It will not only feel rewarding to contribute to this worthwhile cause but you will bring the world one step closer to a cancer-free future.

Daffodil Day

The Daffodil Day Appeal raises funds for vital research into cancer. It is organised by Cancer Council. The appeal, which runs throughout the month of August, builds up to Daffodil Day. On this day, people come together to help raise money for the charity by collecting donations, buying merchandise and wearing yellow.

Cancer Council use the funds raised on the day for cancer research. The research into cancer by scientists gives hope and saves lives. Daffodils are a symbol of that hope. Some of the ways your school can raise money on Daffodil Day include selling daffodils or official Cancer Council Daffodil Day merchandise, organising a yellow-themed dress day and holding a bake sale. The amount that your school raises will provide much needed funds to continue cancer research as well as support cancer patients and their families. It will not only feel rewarding to contribute to this worthwhile cause but you will bring the world one step closer to a cancer-free future.

Daffodil Day

Lined writing area for the Daffodil Day activity.