

Picture Scenes and Question Cards: Present Perfect for Recent Actions

Jonas and Daisy's dad gave them a list of things to do around the house today. Now, their dad is arriving home. Look at the list and look at the pictures. What have Jonas and Daisy already done? What haven't they done yet?

Have they mopped the floor?

Have they done the shopping?

Have they walked the dog?

Have they fixed the chair?

Have they done the washing-up?

Have they dried the dishes?

Have they put up the mirror?

Have they watered the plants?

Has Jonas made his bed?

Have they washed the clothes?

Have they done the ironing?

Have they got Dad's books from the library?

An illustration of a girl and a boy looking at a to-do list on a spiral notebook. The girl, on the left, has dark hair in a braid, wears glasses, a red long-sleeved shirt, and purple and white striped leggings. She is pointing her right index finger towards the list. The boy, in the foreground, has short brown hair and is wearing a yellow t-shirt and grey pants. He is looking at the list with his right hand raised as if gesturing. The notebook is white with a spiral binding at the top. The background is a light teal color with a yellow curved shape at the bottom.
