Story Starter Activity Template

Story starters are important because they make the reader want to read on.

Task 1: Below, you'll find 8 different types of story openings. In the space provided, please create your own story starter for each one. There are examples to help

Character

Daisy hadn't meant for it to happen....

_____

_____

_____

Setting

Deep in the Pacific Ocean, where no light reaches...

_____

_____

_____

Character & Setting

It was a cold, quiet day in December, when Adam suddenly disappeared

_____

_____

_____

Dialogue

"Surprise!" They cried, leaping from behind the door

_____

_____

_____

Action

A loud bang woke me up, that's when I realised I was in Space...

_____

_____

_____

Question

Have you ever had the feeling, that something wasn't quite right? That's how I felt that day...

_____

_____

_____

Statement

There are 365 days, and 12 months in a year. But this one was different...

_____

_____

_____

Fronted Adverbial

Frantically, I pounded on the door

_____

_____

_____

_____

_____

_____

REGENT STUDIES
Focused education on life's walk!
www.regentstudies.com

Task 2: Write your own paragraph

In the box below, use one of your own story starters to create a paragraph and continue the story!

_____

_____

_____

_____

_____

_____

_____

_____

_____

_____

_____

_____

_____

_____

_____

_____

_____

_____

REGENT STUDIES
Focused education on life's walk!
www.regentstudies.com