One cold day in the winter, Lucy decided to go outside to build a snowman. She said to Harry, "Would you like to build one with me?" "I would like that!" said Harry.

Lucy and Harry walked outside into the snow. The snow was deep this year. They were both happy that there was lots of snow to use for their snowman.

They started to roll the snow into a ball to make the body. Harry was sad because his hands were cold. "It will be worth it when it is finished," said Lucy.

After Lucy and Harry had made the body and head for the snowman, they stuck two small sticks in either side for the arms.

Harry found a dirty, old scarf for the snowman to wear around his neck and Lucy fetched a carrot from the fridge.

They both found some small rocks for his eyes and mouth.

After they had finished their snowman, they walked back to the warm house to have a nice cup of hot chocolate.
