

Adjectives and Adverbs

Adjectives are describing words.
They tell you more about a noun.

The orange cat jumped quickly over the chair.
“Orange” tells us the color of the cat (noun).

Adverbs tell more about a verb, adjective, or another adverb.

The orange cat jumped quickly over the chair.
“Quickly” tells us how the cat jumped (verb).

Adverbs help us answer questions like:

How did something happen?

She rides her bike carefully.

Where did it happen?

The puppies follow each other everywhere.

When did it happen?

The teacher always arrives early.
