

Spelling Dictation Sentences

Week 1

We finally arrived at our destination.

The baby was safely placed into the crib.

I strongly suggest that you change your mind.

Would you kindly pass the bowl?

I usually don't enjoy eating cakes.

The spy secretly reported his findings.

The soldier stepped bravely onto the battlefield.

We need to bring the washing in quickly!

Polly sweetly gave a flower to her mother.

The commuter rudely pushed into the queue.

Week 2

The new child fit in easily with their classmates.

An old lady wearily walks up a hill.

Firemen busily battled the raging blaze.

Gary clumsily tripped over a stone.

The children messily painted pictures.

Thor angrily slammed his hammer.

I cheekily asked for another piece of cake.

Farooq greedily devoured the entire pizza.

My dad lazily naps on the couch every evening.

I'd happily go on another school trip.

Week 3

We gently stroked the puppy.

The trip went horribly wrong.

It is probably not a good idea to do that.

Malala humbly accepted the award.

The new King nobly announced his reign.

I sat comfortably upon the new sofa.

I can possibly arrive between 5 p.m. and 6 p.m.

I'm terribly sorry for the inconvenience.

It is incredibly unfortunate that you cannot come.

The chocolate cake was simply divine.

Week 4

The missing sock magically appeared!

My favourite team tragically lost the game.

The performance ended dramatically .

We frantically searched for the missing child.

Muzafar basically gave Joe the answers.

We eventually arrived at the destination.

The two friends comically entertained us.

I accidentally broke my mum's vase.

My aunt and uncle occasionally visit our house.

I'm actually impressed that you managed to finish it.

Week 5

I truly appreciate what you have done.

We must attend school daily .

Simon coyly complimented Dina.

The thief slyly sneaked past security.

The Prime Minister publicly announced the changes.

I wholly disagree with what you have said.

The important document was duly signed.

The humorous man joked dryly .

I shyly hid behind my friend.

Do you fully understand the instructions?

Week 6

I have a lovely group of friends.

I don't wish to appear rude.

What time will you arrive ?

I will continue to play my game when I get home.

Do you believe that aliens exist?

He often walks to the bus stop.

Are you able to describe the thief?

I took a deep breath and jumped into the pool.

A group of women met in the town centre.

My height has not increased since I was 12 years old.

