

Research

Part A

The earthworm and the centipede argue over how many legs the centipede has. Can you find out how many they actually have?

Research

Part B

Can you create a fact file about both earthworms and centipedes?

★ Challenge Task ★

Why do you think this argument took place?

Research Answers

Part A

The earthworm and the centipede argue over how many legs the centipede has. Can you find out how many they actually have?

- How many legs a centipede has depends on the species. They typically have between 15 and 177 pairs of legs.

Part B

★ Challenge Task ★

Why do you think this argument took place?

Example answer:

I think the argument takes place because the earthworm is a little jealous of the centipede. I also think the centipede is the type of character who will show off about the amount of legs it has which will probably have bored the earthworm.