What is this resource and how do I use it?

Simply print these letter formation sheets and support your child in tracing the letters, numbers and shapes. You can use pens, pencils or crayons on paper or laminate the sheets and use dry wipe pens to trace the letters, numbers and shapes instead. This can be good to make the sheets last longer!

Can your child make a rainbow with their letters?

What skills does this practise?

Further Activity Ideas and Suggestions

Add some of our letter formation tracing cards to a sensory tray or sandpit to let your child practise their letter formation further - especially good for kinaesthetic learners. Your child may be ready to learn how to write their name. Try some of our Learning to Write My Name Activity Ideas.
