Decorating Methods

As you browse through this catalog you will see the various decorating imprint methods available and we would like to guide you to make the best choice that you are looking for. We will list the Pros and Cons of each method, because let's face it, there are both. If you don't know which method works best for you, feel free to reach out to us and we can help you make that decision.

DTF Print

DTF Imprints, which stands for Direct To Film is a fairly new method in the industry but is being widely adapted to throughout the whole apparel industry. It is fast replacing Screen Print because of its functionality and durability. DTF is printed in up to a 4 Color (CMYK) onto a transfer film, which is then processed through a powder curing system and then applied directly to your apparel via heat. It is virtually pressing the inks in to the apparel creating a vibrant but silky feel to your garment. It will last numerous of washes just like any other printed garment, but let's face it, ink doesn't withstand years and years of wears and washes. It will eventually degrade, but so will your garment.

- Pros:
- Full Color with White Imprint at almost the cost of most single color imprints
  - Withstands multiple washes.
  - Faster turnaround times
  - Silky Feel, resists cracking

- Cons:
- Will not last forever
  - Does not always work for all garments

Embroidery

Embroidery is widely used in the apparel industries for the professional look. It is imprinted with a computerized sewing machine with 15 needle threads optimizing your multi color thread embroidery. Embroidery will usually last the life of your garment because it is thread.

- Pros:
- The durability of the imprint.
  - The Professional appeal.

- Cons:
- The need for a more simple design
  - The limitations on gradient colors
  - The backside of the imprint reveals the thread ties therefore can be used where you need the underside of the imprint exposed.
  - Artwork needs to be digitized which is an extra charge.

Leather Patch

Leather patches are created by taking a piece of Faux Leather and laser engraving your logo onto the leather itself. This creates a permanent imprint which will outlast the garment by a long run. The patch is then sewn onto the garment.

- Pros:
- The durability of the imprint.
  - The Professional appeal.

- Cons:
- No color can be chosen, just whatever engraves into the leather.
  - Needs to be Vector artwork with no gradients or shading.
  - Creates a bulky feel for outerwear
  - Mostly used on headwear

Our Printing Capabilities are
LIMITLESS

CNC CUTTING/ROUTING

Our CNC will cut or rout out any printed materials with precision. From signage to decals our cutting capabilities are limitless!

APPAREL PRINTING

We have expanded our line of products and are now offering DTF printing onto a variety of garments, from T-Shirts to Sweaters and more.

UV FLATBED PRINTING

UV Flatbed printing prints onto virtually any substrate up to 2" in thickness and up to a 4' x 8' sheet. We have printed on wood, glass, plastics and metals. UV inks are outdoor grade and waterproof.

EMBROIDERY

Embroidery can be done on a variety of subjects. From apparel to blankets and more.....make your logo stand out with over 200+ thread colors available.
