

Marketing Policy

This Marketing Policy describes the required marketing practices for holders of any NFTs with any license rights associated with them. By purchasing or transferring any NFTs or related collectibles in our website and/or any other platform operated by D.OASIS, you agree that you will comply with this Marketing Policy in all respects.

1. All content of any materials created by you regarding the purchase or transferring of any NFTs or related collectibles under this website and/or any other platform operated by D.OASIS must be factual, true and in compliance with the local laws and regulations in its applicable jurisdiction.
2. You are responsible for making sure that any marketing materials do not (i) attack or defame any person; (ii) infringe on the privacy of any person; (iii) infringe on the Intellectual Property Rights of D.OASIS, the Owner and/or any other person (including without limitation, trade names, service or trademarks and copyrights) except as expressly provided in the Licensing Terms; or (iv) include or involve material inconsistent with the public image of D.OASIS.
3. The following marketing activities are prohibited when marketing any NFTs and related collectibles in our website and/or any other platform operated by D.OASIS:
 - (a) Include statements that could cause potential purchasers of any NFTs and related collectibles to have a reasonable expectation of profits and/or investment returns;
 - (b) Use language that is difficult to understand or that has multiple meanings, and must not lead to understanding that investment in any NFTs and related collectibles carry low risk or risk free;
 - (c) Contain statements promising investment guarantee; and
 - (d) Contain any untrue, exaggerated, distorted, concealed or misleading in material respects.
