A guide to history, culture and small-town charm.

Annual Arts Festival: Showcasing the works of Bucks County's most talented artisans, this festival takes place annually each September. Experience the town's culture as it comes alive with musical entertainment, specialty food booths and over 150 exhibitors.

Doylestown Historical Society:

Commemorating the town's historic preservation and downtown revitalization efforts, the Historical Society offers educational lectures, exhibits and programs. As you walk through town, you will notice the Historic Roadways Markers and House Plaques outlining the significance of each location.

Mercer Museum, Moravian Pottery & Tile Works and Fonthill:

Built by the archaeologist, anthropologist, artist and scholar, Henry Chapman Mercer, these eclectic museums have become iconic Doylestown attractions. The Mercer Museum, a six-story concrete castle, showcases its founder's personal collection of over 30,000 Pre-Industrial artifacts. Fonthill, as featured on A&E's "America's Castles," served as Mercer's home and reflects a mixture of Medieval, Gothic and Byzantine architectural styles. The Moravian Pottery & Tile Works produces ceramic tiles engraved with scenes of Bucks County nature and seasons.

Fine Dining & Upscale Shopping: Stroll through the tree-lined streets of Doylestown and explore charming gift and antique shops, one-of-a-kind boutiques and fine art galleries. Satisfy your taste buds at one of over 50 restaurants ranging from distinctive burger joints to award-winning fine dining establishments.

James A. Michener Art Museum: Named after Doylestown's Pulitzer Prize-Winning author, the Michener Art Museum is home to world-class touring exhibits, the finest collection of regional artwork and famed Pfundt Outdoor Sculpture Gallery. The building was originally constructed in 1884 as the Bucks County Prison, but transformed and reopened as the Michener Museum in 1988. The museum serves as the center of Bucks County's artistic legacy.

County Theater: Celebrating its 75th Anniversary, this renovated Art-Deco non-profit theater is one of the town's most beloved and recognizable landmarks. Located on East State Street, moviegoers and historic theater aficionados can relax while watching today's latest indie flicks or Hollywood classics.
