Visit Bletchley Park, the central site for British and allied codebreakers during World War II

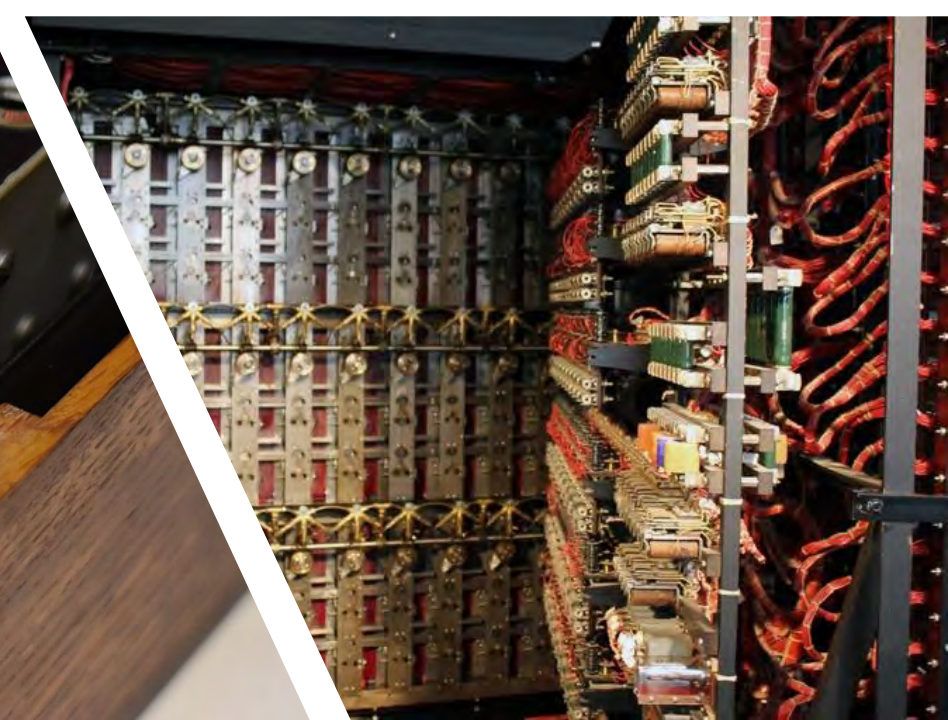

Bletchley Park housed the Government Code and Cypher School (GC&CS), which regularly penetrated the secret communications of the Axis Powers – most importantly the German Enigma and Lorenz ciphers. According to the official historian of British Intelligence, the "Ultra" intelligence produced at Bletchley shortened the war by two to four years, and without it the outcome of the war would have been uncertain,

Located in Milton Keynes, Buckinghamshire, Bletchley Park is open to the public, and receives hundreds of thousands of visitors annually,

TOP SECRET

The 2014 movie 'The Imitation Game', starring Benedict Cumberbatch as Alan Turing, is set in Bletchley Park, and was partially filmed there.

Discover the Paula Rego exhibition at the MK gallery

Showing works spanning her entire career since the 1960s, this is the first major retrospective of Rego's work in England for over 20 years. The exhibition includes previously unseen paintings and works on paper from the artist's family and close friends, which reflect Rego's perspective as a woman immersed in urgent social issues and current affairs.

The selection of works focuses on the moral challenges to humanity, particularly in the face of violence, gender discrimination and political tyranny. Many of the images begin with the artist's Portuguese roots and childhood experiences or respond to current affairs.
