

Graphic and Web Designer

Midweight, Full Time.

Background

We are seeking a driven and talented designer with a strong sense of social justice to join our creative team. Bold is a small design studio with high standards. Based in Glasgow, we are the leading social enterprise agency in Scotland offering a variety of services from rebranding to websites, campaigns and publications. We cater predominantly to the needs of charities, social enterprises and ethical businesses and are driven by helping them to increase their impact through better branding and good design.

The post offers fast-paced and varied design work. The successful candidate will possess UX/UI experience, a broad base of design skills and a can-do attitude. You will have the ability to confidently engage with clients and suppliers. Please take time to browse our portfolio and ensure you will fit in with ethos and standards of the studio. www.bold-studio.co.uk

Your background:

- able to show us a compelling portfolio of your work across a range of clients
- experienced and thrive in a fast-paced agency environment
- proficient in XD/Figma and experienced in designing engaging websites
- proficient in InDesign, Illustrator and other Creative Cloud products
- interested in website UX/UI and able to design websites
- interested in typography and able to lay out inspiring reports
- experienced in conceiving and crafting brand elements and systems

Your outlook:

- design obsessed and motivated to put out great work
- design educated or trained in the field
- fully invested in our clients achieving their objectives and social aims
- happy to take an active interest in the social enterprise movement
- a good communicator and able to explain your design rationale to clients
- a good team player that seeks to muck in with your co-workers
- well organised and manage your own time and timesheets
- a self starter that will know how to make yourself useful at all times
- happy to share in non-design tasks around the studio
- take up any opportunity to top up the inspiration and skills tank

Benefits:

- Fulfilling and varied work (you won't be designing the telephone directory)
- Be part of a small close knit, design driven team that is fun to be a part of
- Small but lovely studio in Glasgow's Merchant City
- Possibilities for flexible working and working from home on occasion
- By working for a social enterprise you are part of a movement that benefits society
