QUESTION 1: POETRY ESSAY QUESTION*Extract from PRELUDES – T S ELIOT

I
The winter evening settles down
With smell of steaks in passageways.
Six o'clock.
The burnt-out ends of smoky days.
And now a gusty shower wraps	5
The grimy scraps
Of withered leaves about your feet
And newspapers from vacant lots;
The showers beat
On broken blinds and chimney-pots,	10
And at the corner of the street
A lonely cab-horse steams and stamps.
And then the lighting of the lamps.

With reference to the opening prelude, discuss the poet's comments on life in an early 20th century, urban, working-class area.

Your answer should include references to poetic techniques.

QUESTION 2: POETRY CONTEXTUAL QUESTION*REFUGEE MOTHER AND CHILD – CHINUA ACHEBE

No Madonna and Child could touch that picture of a mother's tenderness for a son she soon would have to forget.

The air was heavy with odours of diarrhoea of unwashed children with washed-out ribs and dried-up bottoms struggling in laboured steps behind blown empty bellies. Most mothers there had long ceased to care but not this one; she held a ghost smile between her teeth and in her eyes the ghost of a mother's pride as she combed the rust-coloured hair left on his skull and then – singing in her eyes – began carefully to part it... In another life this would have been a little daily act of no consequence before his breakfast and school; now she did it like putting flowers on a tiny grave.	5  10  15  20

My countrymen Kiltartan's poor, No likely end could bring them loss Or leave them happier than before. Nor law, nor duty bade me fight, Nor public men, nor cheering crowds,	10

QUESTION 7: ANIMAL FARM – ESSAY QUESTION

The novel is about leaders and followers.

Critically discuss this statement with specific reference to Napoleon, Squealer, and Boxer.

[25]*OR*QUESTION 8: ANIMAL FARM – CONTEXTUAL QUESTION

Read the extracts below and then answer the questions that follow.

EXTRACT A

However, Benjamin and Clover could only be with Boxer after working hours, and it was in the middle of the day when the van came to take him away. The animals were all at work weeding turnips under the supervision of a pig, when they were astonished to see Benjamin come galloping from the direction of the farm buildings, braying at the top of his voice. It was the first time that they had ever seen Benjamin excited – indeed, it was the first time that anyone had ever seen him gallop. 'Quick, quick!' he shouted. 'Come at once! They're taking Boxer away!' Without waiting for orders from the pig, the animals broke off work and raced back to the farm buildings. Sure enough, there in the yard was a large closed van, drawn by two horses, with lettering on its side and a sly-looking man in a low-crowned bowler hat sitting on the driver's seat. And Boxer's stall was empty.

The animals crowded round the van. 'Good-bye, Boxer!' they chorused, 'good-bye!'

15

'Fools! Fools!' shouted Benjamin, prancing round them and stamping the earth with his small hoofs. 'Fools! Do you not see what is written on the side of that van?'

That gave the animals pause, and there was a hush. Muriel began to spell out the words. But Benjamin pushed her aside and in the midst of a deadly silence he read:

20

' "Alfred Simmons, Horse Slaughterer and Glue-Boiler, Willingdon. Dealer in Hides and Bone-Meal. Kennels Supplied." Do you not understand what that means? They are taking Boxer to the knacker's!'

[Chapter 9]

- 8.1 Discuss Boxer's role up to this point in the novel. (3)
- 8.2 Discuss the irony in Boxer's removal to the knackers. (3)
- 8.3 What advantage does Benjamin have over the other animals? (2)
- 8.4 Explain why Benjamin might be seen as the voice of reason in this extract. (3)

AND*EXTRACT B

The animals were hard at work building yet another windmill; when that one was finished, so it was said, the dynamos would be installed. But the luxuries of which Snowball had once taught the animals to dream, the stalls with electric light and hot and cold water, and the three-day week, were no longer talked about. Napoleon had denounced such ideas as contrary to the spirit of Animalism. The truest happiness, he said, lay in working hard and living frugally. 5

Somehow it seemed as though the farm had grown richer without making the animals themselves any richer – except, of course, for the pigs and the dogs. Perhaps this was partly because there were so many pigs and so many dogs. It was not that these creatures did not work, after their fashion. There was, as Squealer was never tired of explaining, endless work in the supervision and organisation of the farm. Much of this work was of a kind that the other animals were too ignorant to understand. For example, Squealer told them that the pigs had to expend enormous labours every day upon mysterious things called 'files', 'reports', 'minutes', and 'memoranda'. These were large sheets of paper which had to be closely covered with writing, and as soon as they were so covered, they were burnt in the furnace. This was of the highest importance for the welfare of the farm, Squealer said. But still, neither pigs nor dogs produced any food by their own labour; and there were very many of them, and their own appetites were always good. 10 15 20

[Chapter 10]

- 8.5 'The animals were hard at work building yet another windmill' (line 1). Explain the necessity for building 'yet another windmill'. (2)
- 8.6 Refer to line 5: 'Napoleon had denounced such ideas as contrary to the spirit of Animalism.' Explain your understanding of the 'spirit of Animalism'. (2)
- 8.7 'Somehow it seemed as though the farm had grown richer' (line 7). Discuss the irony in the above statement. (3)

- 8.8 'There was, as Squealer was never tired ... ignorant to understand' (lines 10 – 13).
Is Squealer's attitude towards the other animals, as revealed in these lines, consistent throughout the novel? Substantiate your response. (3)
- 8.9 In your view, is Orwell's use of characters that are pigs and dogs effective in conveying a comment on dictatorships? Justify your response by referring to the novel as a whole. (4)

The novel is a reflection on whether young people can develop from ignorance and folly to self-awareness and sensitivity to others.

Discuss this statement with specific reference to Darcy, Elizabeth and Mr Collins.

EXTRACT A

'I am afraid, Mr Darcy,' observed Miss Bingley, in a half whisper, 'that this adventure has rather affected your admiration of her fine eyes.'

'Not at all,' he replied; 'they were brightened by the exercise.'

– A short pause followed this speech, and Mrs Hurst began again.

'I have an excessive regard for Jane Bennet, she is really a very sweet girl, and I wish with all my heart she were well settled. But with such a father and mother, and such low connections, I am afraid there is no chance of it.' 5

'I think I have heard you say, that their uncle is an attorney in Meryton.'

'Yes; and they have another, who lives somewhere near Cheapside.'

'That is capital,' added her sister, and they both laughed heartily. 10

'If they had uncles enough to fill all Cheapside,' cried Bingley, 'it would not make them one jot less agreeable.'

'But it must very materially lessen their chance of marrying men of any consideration in the world,' replied Darcy.

To this speech Bingley made no answer; but his sisters gave it their hearty assent, and indulged their mirth for some time at the expense of their dear friend's vulgar relations. 15

[Chapter 8]

10.1 Refer to lines 1 – 2: 'I am afraid ... of her fine eyes.'

10.1.1 To what 'adventure' does Miss Bingley refer? (2)

10.1.2 Why does Miss Bingley speak 'in a half whisper'? (2)

10.2 Consider 'such low connections' (line 7) and 'men of any consideration' (lines 13 – 14).

Explain the implications these phrases have for marriage in this society. (3)

- 10.3 'But it must ... replied Darcy' (lines 13 – 14).
- 10.3.1 In view of later events in the novel, discuss how Darcy's character changes. (3)

'I will make no promise of the kind.'

'Miss Bennet, I am shocked and astonished. I expected to find a more reasonable young woman. But do not deceive yourself into a belief that I will ever recede. I shall not go away, till you have given me the assurance I require.'

'And I certainly never shall give it. I am not to be intimidated into anything so wholly unreasonable. Your ladyship wants Mr Darcy to marry your daughter; but would my giving you the wished-for promise, make their marriage at all more probable? Supposing him to be attached to me, would my refusing to accept his hand, make him wish to bestow it on his cousin? Allow me to say, Lady Catherine, that the arguments with which you have supported this extraordinary application, have been as frivolous as the application was ill-judged. You have widely mistaken my character, if you think I can be worked on by such persuasions as these. How far your nephew might approve of your interference in his affairs, I cannot tell; but you have certainly no right to concern yourself in mine. I must beg, therefore, to be importuned no farther on the subject.'

'Not so hasty, if you please. I have by no means done. To all the objections I have already urged, I have still another to add. I am no stranger to the particulars of your youngest sister's infamous elopement. I know it all; that the young man's marrying her, was a patched-up business, at the expense of your father and uncles. And is such a girl to be my nephew's sister? Is her husband, is the son of his late father's steward, to be his brother? Heaven and earth! – of what are you thinking? Are the shades of Pemberley to be thus polluted?'

[Chapter 34]

- 10.4 Why does Lady Catherine wish to extract a 'promise' from Elizabeth (line 1). (2)
- 10.5 Examine lines 5 to 15: 'And I certainly ... on the subject'. What do these lines reveal about Elizabeth's character? Substantiate with reference to the text. (3)
- 10.6 'And is such a girl ... to be thus polluted?' (lines 20 – 22). Explain how Lady Catherine's use of language contributes to the theme of prejudice in the novel. (4)
- 10.7 Consider the issue of class distinction that the author addresses in the novel. In your view, is this distinction prevalent today? Justify your response. (3)

'We ought to plan something,' yawned Miss Baker, sitting down at the table as if she were getting into bed.

'All right,' said Daisy. 'What'll we plan?' She turned to me helplessly: 'What do people plan?'

Before I could answer her eyes fastened with an awed expression on her little 5 finger.

'Look!' she complained; 'I hurt it.'

We all looked — the knuckle was black and blue.

'You did it, Tom,' she said accusingly. 'I know you didn't mean to, but you did do 10

'I hate that word hulking,' objected Tom crossly, 'even in kidding.'

'Hulking,' insisted Daisy.

Sometimes she and Miss Baker talked at once, unobtrusively and with a bantering 15 inconsequence that was never quite chatter that was as cool as their white dresses and their impersonal eyes in the absence of all desire. They were here, and they accepted Tom and me, making only a polite pleasant effort to entertain or to be entertained. They knew that presently dinner would be over and a little later the evening too would be over and casually put away. It was sharply 20 different from the West, where an evening was hurried from phase to phase toward its close, in a continually disappointed anticipation or else in sheer nervous dread of the moment itself.

'You make me feel uncivilized, Daisy,' I confessed on my second glass of corky but rather impressive claret. 'Can't you talk about crops or something?'

[Chapter 1]

- 12.1 Account for Nick's visit to the Buchanans at their home. (2)
- 12.2 'All right,' said Daisy. 'What'll we plan? ... What do people plan?' (lines 3 – 4). What do these words reveal about Daisy's position in society? (2)
- 12.3 What is Nick's impression of the Buchanans' marriage at this stage of the novel? Substantiate your response. (4)

The little dog was sitting on the table looking with blind eyes through the smoke, and from time to time groaning faintly. People disappeared, reappeared, made plans to go somewhere, and then lost each other, searched for each other, found each other a few feet away. Some time toward midnight Tom Buchanan and Mrs Wilson stood face to face discussing, in impassioned voices, whether Mrs Wilson had any right to mention Daisy's name. 5

'Daisy! Daisy! Daisy!' shouted Mrs Wilson. 'I'll say it whenever I want to! Daisy! Dai —'

Making a short deft movement, Tom Buchanan broke her nose with his open hand. 10

Daisy and Tom were sitting opposite each other at the kitchen table, with a plate of cold fried chicken between them, and two bottles of ale. He was talking intently across the table at her, and in his earnestness his hand had fallen upon and covered her own. Once in a while she looked up at him and nodded in agreement.

They weren't happy, and neither of them had touched the chicken or the ale — and yet they weren't unhappy either. There was an unmistakable air of natural intimacy about the picture, and anybody would have said that they were conspiring together.

As I tiptoed from the porch I heard my taxi feeling its way along the dark road toward the house. Gatsby was waiting where I had left him in the drive.

'Is it all quiet up there?' he asked anxiously.

'Yes, it's all quiet.' I hesitated. 'You'd better come home and get some sleep.'

He shook his head.

'I want to wait here till Daisy goes to bed. Good night, old sport.'

15

He put his hands in his coat pockets and turned back eagerly to his scrutiny of the house, as though my presence marred the sacredness of the vigil. So I walked away and left him standing there in the moonlight — watching over nothing.

BRABANTIO

A maiden never bold of spirit,
So still and quiet, that her motion
Blushed at herself – and she, in spite of nature,
Of years, of country, credit, everything,
To fall in love with what she feared to look on? 5
It is a judgment maimed and most imperfect
That will confess perfection so could err
Against all rules of nature, and must be driven
To find out practices of cunning hell
Why this should be. I therefore vouch again 10
That with some mixtures powerful o'er the blood,
Or with some dram conjured to this effect,
He wrought upon her.

DUKE OF VENICE

To vouch this is no proof
Without more wider and more overt test
Than these thin habits and poor likelihoods 15
Of modern seeming do prefer against him.

FIRST SENATOR

But, Othello, speak,
Did you by indirect and forced courses
Subdue and poison this young maid's affections?
Or came it by request and such fair question 20
As soul to soul affordeth?

OTHELLO

I do beseech you,
Send for the lady to the Sagittary,
And let her speak of me before her father.
If you do find me foul in her report,

The play presents a situation where a severe trial of faith and belief produces something new and morally worthwhile.

Discuss this statement with regard to John and Elizabeth Proctor.

[25]*OR*QUESTION 16: THE CRUCIBLE – CONTEXTUAL QUESTION

Read the extracts below and then answer the questions that follow.

EXTRACT A

Reverend Hale enters.

He appears to be loaded down with half a dozen heavy books.

HALE: Pray you, someone take these!

PARRIS (delighted): Mr Hale! Oh! it's good to see you again! (Taking some books.) My, they're heavy!

HALE (setting down his books): They must be; they are weighted with authority.

PARRIS (a little scared): Well, you do come prepared!

HALE: We shall need hard study if it comes to tracking down the Old Boy. (Noticing Rebecca.) You cannot be Rebecca Nurse?

REBECCA: I am, sir. Do you know me?

10

HALE: It's strange how I knew you, but I suppose you look as such a good soul should. We have all heard of your great charities in Beverly.

PARRIS: Do you know this gentleman? Mr Thomas Putnam. And his good wife Ann.

HALE: Putnam! I had not expected such distinguished company, sir.

15

PUTNAM (pleased): It does not seem to help us today, Mr Hale. We look to you to come to our house and save our child.

HALE: Your child ails too?

MRS PUTNAM: Her soul, her soul seems flown away. She sleeps and yet she walks ...

20

PUTNAM: She cannot eat.

HALE: Cannot eat! (Thinks on it. Then, to Proctor and Giles Corey.) Do you men have afflicted children?

PARRIS: No, no, these are farmers. John Proctor –

GILES COREY: He don't believe in witches. 25

PROCTOR (to Hale): I never spoke on witches one way or the other. Will you come, Giles?

GILES: No – no, John, I think not. I have some few queer questions of my own to ask this fellow.

PROCTOR: I've heard you to be a sensible man, Mr Hale. I hope you will leave 30 some of it in Salem.

PROCTOR goes. HALE stands embarrassed for an instant.

[ACT 1]

- 16.1 Briefly recount the circumstances that have brought Reverend Hale to Salem. (2)
- 16.2. Hale refers to Rebecca as a 'good soul' (line 11).
Do you agree with Hale's assessment of Rebecca? Give a reason for your response. (2)
- 16.3 Refer to lines 15 – 16: 'Putnam, I had not expected ... (pleased)'.
The stage direction refers to Putnam as being 'pleased' to be referred to as 'distinguished company'.
Explain what Putnam's reaction ('pleased') indicates about his character. (2)
- 16.4 Proctor: I never spoke on witches one way or the other (line 26).
Proctor: I've heard you to be a sensible man, Mr Hale. I hope you leave some of it in Salem' (lines 30 – 31).
What do these remarks indicate about Proctor's attitude to the events in Salem? (3)
- 16.5 The stage direction states that 'HALE stands embarrassed' (line 32).
Explain why, later in the play, he has reason to be ashamed. (3)

EXTRACT B

DANFORTH (to Proctor): What are you? (PROCTOR is beyond speech in his anger.) You are combined with anti-Christ, are you not? I have seen your power; you will not deny it! What say you, mister?

HALE: Excellency –

DANFORTH: I will have nothing from you, Mr Hale! (To Proctor) Will you confess yourself befouled with Hell, or do you keep that black allegiance yet? What say you? 5

PROCTOR (his mind wild, breathless): I say – I say – God is dead!

PARRIS: Hear it, hear it!

PROCTOR (laughs insanely, then): A fire, a fire is burning! I hear the boot of Lucifer, I see his filthy face! And it is my face, and yours, Danforth! For them that quail to bring men out of ignorance, as I have quailed, and as you quail now when you know in all your black hearts that this be fraud – God damns our kind especially, and we will burn, we will burn together! 10

DANFORTH: Marshal! Take him and Corey with him to the jail! 15

HALE (starting across to the door): I denounce these proceedings!

PROCTOR: You are pulling Heaven down and raising up a whore!

HALE: I denounce these proceedings, I quit this court! (He slams the door to the outside behind him.)

DANFORTH (calling to him in a fury): Mr Hale! Mr Hale! 20

THE CURTAIN FALLS

[ACT 3]

- 16.6 Immediately before this extract, Abigail and the girls act out, in court, the scene with the 'bird'. Explain how this incident influences Proctor's claim that 'God is dead' (line 8). (3)
- 16.7 In line 15 Giles Corey is taken to jail. In your view, is Corey's death heroic? Justify your response. (3)

- 16.8 Here Proctor claims, 'You are pulling Heaven down and raising up a whore!' (line 17).
In terms of past events, is Proctor's claim justified? Substantiate your opinion. (3)
- 16.9 The act concludes with Hale's denouncing the proceedings, while Danforth calls him back 'in a fury' (line 20).
Comment on the dramatic effect of this as a means to bring Act 3 to an end. (4)
