Vineyards & The Rocks
therocksdistrict.com

The Rocks AVA (American Viticulture Area) is situated on an alluvial fan of the Walla Walla River, where the river exits the foothills of the Blue Mountains and enters the Walla Walla Valley. It lies entirely within Oregon and includes part of the town of Milton-Freewater. The Rocks AVA received its designation in 2015. It is typified by its unusual soils...or lack thereof. The ground consists primarily of dark-colored basalt cobbles, ideal for drainage and encouraging vines to root deeply. Learn more about The Rocks AVA and its wine at therocksdistrict.com.
