

Glasses That Soften the Angles of a Square Face

If you have a square face, you'll want to choose glasses that soften your sharp jawline and angular features. Glasses for square face males should have round, oval, or slightly curved shapes to balance the strong angles of the face. Rounded frames help to soften the face's natural sharpness, giving it a more balanced and proportional look. Avoid glasses with hard edges or sharp corners, as these can make your face look even more angular.

Frames that are slightly larger or oversized can also help to bring out the best features of a square face. Glasses with a high bridge or larger lenses will add contrast to the angular features, creating a more harmonious and attractive look. By choosing the right pair of glasses for square faces, you can enhance your facial symmetry and achieve a look that is both stylish and flattering.
